Photographer exhibits aerial artwork of Antioch, Chain O'Lakes at Expo

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Local photographer Michael Brown will debut his newest images of Antioch and the surrounding lakes area at the upcoming Home Towne Expo, sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry, will be held for one day only on March 24 from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. at the Antioch Community High School (ACHS).

Brown said, "I did a personal project of these aerial photos for a friend, and they really unique high altitude photographs of Antioch and the whole Chain area."

He added, "Several images are stitched together in a photo mosaic, and the detail is incredible."

Brown describes most of his work as fine art photography of color landscapes using a large format medium.

"I will probably display less than a dozen pieces," said Brown. "Most of my work is quite large, about 40 inches by 48 inches."

Of the Home Towne Expo Barbara Porch, director of the Chamber said, "This is not just a business to business trade fair, it's more of a consumer's home show."

Admission is free to the expo that features two large exhibit halls with both professionally draped booths in the north gym and a table top exhibitor area in the commons that is perfect for arts and crafts. Exhibitors and crafters will have items for sale.

There will be an old car show in the front parking lot of the school. Though the car show is also free, tickets must be obtained from inside the expo.

ACHS's finest artists will be display their creations at the student art exhibit held in conjunction with the expo.

The expo boasts free samples and free parking, health screening, advice and sales and entertainment. The Lake County K-9 team will perform a police dog demonstration. The Gymnastic Zone put on a student performance.

At 1:30 p.m., master gardener Hope Forcier will give a lecture about container gardening along with a question and answer session. Forcier was named master gardener in 2000 through the University of Illinois extension program for volunteering in excess of 200 hours to its horticulture program.

The first 1,000 adults will have a chance to win millions, as the Chamber will be giving away Lotto tickets to add to the fun and excitement.

"This weekend is usually the first great weekend of spring," said Porch. "It's a great time to come out and enjoy all that is offered."

Election day draws close, Maravela details platform

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

"In order to maintain the unique character of our community, we must be vigilant as we make our decisions for the future," said mayoral candidate Taso Maravela. "It's time that any and all growth be strictly controlled, sensible and in conformance with the Comprehensive Plan."

He said he feels that issues such as traffic, storm water, sanitary sewers and school impact must be addressed, and the costs associated with these issues borne by the developer. "We must always consider the rights of the property owner, but not at the expense of the people of Antioch," said Maravela.

Maravela is proposing that the school districts be invited to send a non-voting representative to all village meetings when annexations or zoning changes that will effect population density are discussed.

Maravela is in favor of bringing industry to the area, and said he plans to work the local real estate business community to develop a plan of action to encourage companies to relocate into Antioch's industrial zone. "It's time to actively recruit light industry to help balance the tax load and at the same time offer local employment opportunities," he said.

He added that "keeping an attractive and viable downtown shopping area" would be a prime concern when considering the expansion of commercial shopping. Maravela said, "It's time to be proactive both with the Chamber of Commerce and Industry and the individual business owners to maintain and improve existing retail shopping areas."

Maravela said he feels that some areas of the village are in dire need of storm water relief. "It's time to put the resources of the village to work to correct this storm water problem and we will start work immediately in those problem areas," he said. "No one in this village should have to go to sleep at night and worry if their basement will be filled with storm water in the morning."

Maravela contends that years of neglect have taken a toll on residential streets, and that he plans to work immediately on comprehensive plan to resurface the streets in the community. He said he plans to do this within the limits of the village budget, but that street repair will begin this year.

While on the topic of streets, Maravela said he would seek both short- and long-term solutions to the bottlenecking at major intersections. "They are unacceptable and getting worse," he said. "I will create a transportation committee made up of interested citizens and elected officials and schedule meetings with the Illinois Department of Transportation and our Springfield elected officials."

The final issue Maravela addressed is the level of manpower at the public works department. He said he feels that the heart of any village is the public works department as it supplies the services for the taxpayers of the village.

"An attempt at privatizing some of the village's services simply hasn't worked and has resulted in a lack of available, knowledgeable resources," said Maravela. "Subcontracting or privatizing public improvements that have planned in advance can certainly be cost saving, but it's time to increase the staff at the public works department in order to provide the day to day services needed and expected by the people of Antioch."

Maravela concluded, "It's time to have an administration that will be open, inclusive, accessible and responsive, and that every contact with someone of his administration will start with a question: 'How can we help you?'"

Fire department works to recruit more members

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Fire Dept. is hoping to increase its membership from the current 67 members to about 125 members. Plans are in the works to build a third fire station in the vicinity of Grass Lake Rd. and Rte. 59.

"We hope to have new members in and trained so that we will have people ready to man the station when construction is complete," said Chris Lienhardt, the department's information officer. If the weather cooperates and all else runs smoothly, construction should begin in the fall of this year with a target completion date of about one year from now.

A new training class begins in July, and the department plans to accept applications through nearly the end of June. Applicants must be 18 years old, be a high school graduate or have a GED equivalency and be upstanding members of the community. Applicants go through a screening process that involves a background check before being accepted by the department. Additionally, applicants must live within Antioch Township.

"Firefighters are very highly regarded," said Lienhardt. "I didn't really realize it when I first joined. It wasn't until I was a little older and had a child of my own that I really began to notice how people react to us."

Department Capt. Jeff Vandevoorde said, "It's really a great opportunity. All of the necessary training costs are covered by the department." He added that regular college costs might be reimbursed as long as the study is related to work at the fire department.

Women are welcome to join the department.

"An ability test is given to make sure applicants are able to function and do the job," said Vandevoorde. "If you're in reasonable shape it's not too hard."

Both Vandevoorde and Lienhardt stressed that the job is rewarding but that it does require a good deal of commitment, particularly in the first year while the necessary training is being completed.

"There are certain benchmarks at which point we can send new members out to do certain things," said Lienhardt. "It's intensive for the first year."

On average, the department receives 1.8 calls per day. "Unfortunately, the calls don't come in like that," said Vandevoorde. "Some days there are no calls, and other days there are five calls."

"We want to start recruiting now so that we will be able to keep all of our shifts covered," said Lienhardt. "People don't work nine-to-five jobs anymore, and that makes it a little more challenging."

Calls have steadily increased from 337 calls in 1990 to 690 calls in 2000. "We're trying to stay ahead of the curve," said Lienhardt.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of the fire department should pick up an application at the main fire station located on Holbek Dr. Further instructions will be given at that time. Prospective applicants with questions are encouraged to call either Vandevoorde or Lienhardt at 395-5511.

Antioch First party plans to continue providing high-quality public safety

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

"Antioch First supports the Antioch Police Dept.'s proactive approach to reducing crime and enhancing the quality for life for Antioch residents," said incumbent mayoral candidate Marilyn Shineflug. "The department is accomplishing this goal, in part, by actively applying for available grants and other sources of law enforcement funding."

From January 1997 to January 2001, the department applied for and received a total of $443,300 in grant funds. Combined with the administration's policy of directing the department's allocations and resources to best serve the community, the department has been able to reduce crime in Antioch by 58 percent from 1996-1999.

In March 1998, voters supported referendum to construct two public safety buildings including a new police department building. Now completed, the new police station has holding cells for both male and female prisoners, juvenile facilities, officer locker rooms, a day room and a future shooting range on the first floor. The second floor has a training room, detective offices, records and administration.

Now remodeled the former police facilities are being utilized by the village's building department and the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

'Antioch First feels the Village of Antioch is very fortunate to be served by volunteer firefighters and supports the efforts of the current administration to maintain a volunteer fire department for many years'

Marilyn Shineflug

Some of the proactive police department programs that the Antioch First Party supports are a computerized evidence system for better tracking, a citizen's opinion survey to identify areas of police relations needing improvement, a victim/complaint follow up program, placement of an officer in a countywide unit for undercover work in various liquor establishments and an updated 911 dispatch center in Antioch that is also used by Lake Villa and Lindenhurst saving the village $80,000 per year.

Additionally, the party will continue to support increased efforts to improve public safety through the village's two fire stations.

"Antioch First feels the Village of Antioch is very fortunate to be served by volunteer firefighters and supports the efforts of the current administration to maintain a volunteer fire department for many years," said Shineflug. "Because both the downtown station and the new substation are state of the art facilities, Antioch First believes volunteer firefighters will want to serve the village and the district well into the future."

In March 1998, residents also voted to support the construction of a new fire station located on the east side of the village. The station, built on a three-acre parcel, was paid for jointly by the Antioch Township First Fire Protection Dist. and the Village of Antioch.

According to the party, the estimated cost to taxpayers to operate a fire department staffed by full-time employees rather than by volunteer firefighters would be between $1-$1.5 million per year.

In addition to the fire station, the department has acquired a new pumper with a 2,000 gallon capacity, an investigative van, chief's vehicle, a new ladder truck, an all-terrain vehicle for ice and field rescue, forty new air packs, high angle rescue equipment and computers for training, engineering and public education.

Candidates, referenda items on April 3 ballot

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

There are several races and one referenda item that will appear on the April 3 consolidated election ballot.

In the mayoral race there are two candidates incumbent Marilyn Shineflug and independent candidate Taso Maravelas.

Residents will need to select three of the candidates hoping to fill the open positions for trustee of the Village of Antioch. Running on the Antioch First ticket along with Shineflug are Tom Baba, Ken Karasek and incumbent Dorothy Larson. Bob Caulfield and Scott Pierce are running as independent candidates.

Township positions are open for supervisor, clerk, assessor, highway commissioner and four open trustee positions. While there are slots for write-in candidates, the following are running unopposed: Stephen Smouse for supervisor; Kathleen Smith for clerk; Heather Kufalk-Marotta for assessor; Mark Ring for highway commissioner; and Judy Davis, Claudette Skvarce, Wanda Sobczak and Kevin Schoudel are seeking the four open positions for trustees.

There are also three unopposed candidates for the three open trustee positions with the Antioch Public Library District. They are Ann Kakacek, Kerry Drake Astar and Gene Le Fave.

There are five candidates seeking four open positions on the Antioch Community Consolidated School Dist. 34 board of education. Cheryl Henning, Gary Burnette and Kevin Koch are incumbent candidates. The other two candidates are Kurt Duehr and Theresa Kovach.

Four candidates run unopposed for positions on the Emmons School Dist. 33 board of education. They are Lauri Tobias, Stan Livermore, Lori Bruce and Donna Gunn.

Grass Lake School Dist. 36 has only two candidates, Randy Mathias and Kim Uden Rutter, to fill four open positions on its board of education.

There are five candidates seeking four open positions on the board of education for Antioch Community High School (ACHS) Dist. 117. One of the open positions must be filled by a resident of the unincorporated area as 30 percent of the taxable property for the high school district comes from an unincorporated area. There are three candidates who are unincorporated residents: Aileen Biel, Phillip Delany and Brent Gandolfi. The other two candidates are from the incorporated Antioch area: Larry Peterson and Wayne Sobczak.

The one referendum item on the ballot is put forth by ACHS and proposes to increase the maximum annual educational tax rate from 1.32 percent to 1.60 percent. The additional money is needed for operating expenses for the second high school approved in last November's election.

First winds up campaign message

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The final goals of the Antioch First part are to improve senior services and preserve Antioch's historical heritage.

"The village currently is studying several options for increased services for our senior citizens as well as improvements to the Antioch Senior Center," said Marilyn Shineflug, the incumbent candidate for mayor. "We also hope to create a senior services department in the village to work more closely with seniors. Some of the issues that need to be studied include how transportation can be provided for individuals who don't drive, additional interior and exterior improvements to the (senior) center and expansion of the existing facility to provide more space for activities.

Shifting gears, candidate for village trustee Ken Karasek said, "Preserving Antioch's community pride and historical heritage is important and is a reflection of the community itself.

"I was appointed to a position on the redevelopment commission for Antioch's Tax Increment Financing (TIF) district two years ago and was amazed at all the things this commission had achieved," continued Karasek. "The purpose of this commission is to revitalize the downtown. As of 1993, the vacancy rate in downtown was 38 percent. The current vacancy rate is an extraordinarily low 4 percent."

Karasek credits the success to the village working with the redevelopment committee and the community development department to attract retail stores. "During my time on the commission, I have witnessed the renovation of Main St. in regard to new sidewalks, lighting, building façade improvements and street repaving," he added.

"The most recent accomplishment was the construction and dedication of the William E. Brook Wetland Sanctuary and Entertainment Center that was made possible by the combined efforts of individuals, organizations and businesses," said Karasek. "This revitalization process began on April 20, 1996 as an Earth Day clean up where more than 100 community volunteers participated in the restoration process. This project is an outstanding example of the community pulling together to make Antioch a community that works."

Karasek mentioned that future improvements include the construction of a handicapped accessible walkway from Main St. to the sanctuary and entertainment center.

"I have learned never to underestimate the power of people working together," said Karasek. "All of these events and programs are successful because people care and show their support for the community they live in and want to see it succeed."

Congratulations to Antioch Upper Grade School who raised about $2,000 for the American Heart Association through a "hoops for hearts" tournament.

Sixth grade teacher Sheree Molitor organized the three-on-three tournament and said, "I told the kids who wanted to participate that they had to raise at least $15 in pledge money, but many of them raised a lot more money than that."

Seventy students in the sixth through eighth grades and a half a dozen teachers participated.

"This is the fourth year that we've raised money for this cause," Molitor added.

Methodist church youth group seeks donations for fund-raiser

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

MYSTIC (Methodist Youth Serving Together in Christ) is seeking donations of items necessary to conduct a pancake breakfast on April 21 to raise money for a planned mission trip. The mission trip will take 16 teens and four adults to Benton Harbor, Mich. to work with the elderly, rehab homes, work in food kitchens and run a "kid's club."

"While we would gladly and gratefully accept financial donations, the kids really want to work to earn the money for themselves," said group leader Laura Wurster. "We're really looking for donations for our pancake breakfast so that we don't have to put out any money to make money."

Items on the group's wish list include the following: griddles (to borrow), paper place mats, napkins, plastic silverware, cups for both coffee and juice, paper plates, bacon, sausage, pancake mix, coffee, orange juice, milk, cream, sugar, powdered sugar and syrup.

"This mission is a little different from what we've done in years past, because it's a little more of an urban setting," said Wurster.

Wurster said the youth group needs to raise about $3,000 for the trip to cover expenses including the rental of three vans. She said, "The kids have done a number of things already to raise money, but they're still working toward their goal."

For more information about this project and the mission trip, or to make a donation, please call the church office at 395-1259, or the group leaders Gerard and Laura Wurster at 838-6838.

ANTIOCH

Traffic crash/DUI

Daniel B. Werner, 26, of 106 Lake St. in Antioch was arrested on March 18 at 2:24 a.m. at Williams and Main St. for driving under the influence of alcohol and driving his vehicle off of the road and into a wooden retention wall.

While on patrol, police saw Werner's vehicle against the wall with the engine running, the transmission in drive and Werner attempting to accelerate. The wheels were spinning as the retention wall prevented any forward movement.

Officers shut the engine off, and requested that Werner exit the vehicle. The strong odor of alcoholic beverage was detected on his breath, and, according to the report, police noted that he had vomited inside the car.

Werner was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. The Antioch Rescue Squad was at the station on standby because of Werner's condition.

Werner agreed to a blood alcohol test, but then refused to follow the directions properly. He began to vomit again during his processing and requested medical assistance.

The rescue squad took him to the Victory Hospital emergency room where a preliminary blood test showed a blood alcohol concentration of .243.

DUI/suspended driver's license

Justine J. Menard, 35, of 39495 N. Forest Ave. in Antioch, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol, driving with a suspended driver's license and for the illegal transportation of open alcohol on March 17 at 11:23 p.m. on Rte. 173 west of Tiffany Rd.

Police clocked Menard's van traveling 52 mph in a posted 40-mph zone. The van then drifted across the centerline toward the police car whose officer had to maneuver to the shoulder to avoid a crash.

As police spoke to Menard, the strong odor of alcoholic beverage was detected. The officer requested field sobriety tests and Menard responded, "Forget it. I'm not doing any tests, you know I'm drunk."

Field sobriety tests were attempted, but ceased for safety reasons.

Menard was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. During the inventory for tow, a partially full bottle of vodka was found.

At the station, Menard refused all chemical testing. She was put through booking procedures and issued citations for speeding, improper lane usage, driving while suspended, illegal transportation of alcohol and driving under the influence.

She was released on a cash bond pending court.

DUI

Danny L. Wilkinson, 25, of 2268 W. Virell Dr. in Antioch was arrested on March 15 at 12:23 a.m. for driving under the influence of alcohol on Rte. 59 south of Hillside Ave.

His vehicle came into police radar at 67 mph in a posted 45-mph zone. As the vehicle passed Hillside, it drifted across the centerline and completely into the other lane of traffic.

Police attempted to stop the vehicle, but the officer had to shine the spotlight into the rearview mirror before the car stopped in the 400 block of Lake St.

Wilkinson provided police with an Illinois identification card and a ticket. During that time, police detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage on his breath.

He was released on proper bond pending court.

Wilmot School seeks help

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Wilmot Grade School in Wilmot, Wis. is hoping its neighbors to the south will help support its benefit auction on March 24.

The event will be held at Twin Oak's Heartwood Hall in Wilmot. The evening will begin at 6 p.m. with a silent auction during which the dinner will be served. A live auction will begin at 8:30 p.m. A disc jockey will provide music for dancing following the auctions.

Over 100 items, certificates and baskets will be auctioned. Some of the items include a Vikings team book autographed by Chris Carter, a team football autographed by the Green Bay Packers, Wisconsin Dells baskets, season tickets to the PM&L theatre, a spa package from Elizabeth Adam Salon in Chicago and much more.

Tickets are available at the school office for $20. The address is 10720 Fox River Rd., and the phone number is 262-862-6461.

High school ballot format confusing

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The section of the ballot for the Antioch Community High School (ACHS) Dist. 117 looks more complicated than it actually is.

There are five candidates seeking four open positions on the board of education for the high school. Aileen Biel, Phillip Delany and Brent Gandolfi live in unincorporated areas of the high school district. Larry Peterson and Wayne Sobczak live in the incorporated area of the high school district.

Of these four open positions, a minimum of one position must be filled by a resident living in the unincorporated area because 30 percent or more of the taxable property in the high school district is unincorporated.

No matter how one chooses to vote, this will happen as a majority of the candidates are from the unincorporated area.

"Some of us are concerned that residents will feel obligated to vote one way or another because of the way this is written. It's a bit ambiguous," said incumbent candidate Sobczak. "People don't have to vote for the two of us in the incorporated area, and it will work out that the minimum for the unincorporated area will be met."

He continued, "It's important for people to vote for the four they want."

Violence tip line available to students

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

State Rep. Tim Osmond (R-Antioch) is encouraging students across the state to take advantage of the school violence tip line established so that threats can be reported anonymously.

"Students are becoming increasingly aware that threats can turn into reality, and they need to know there is a place to turn where they can share their concerns anonymously," said Osmond.

Students are urged to keep the toll-free number handy (1-800-477-0024), particularly those fearful of retribution, or otherwise without an adult with whom to confide. All reports are kept anonymous.

The school violence tip line was established in 1998 to provide students with an opportunity to report threats of violence within their schools. The line is manned by members of the Illinois State Police, and is promoted through the joint efforts of Attorney General Jim Ryan and the state police.

Save-A-Pet to hold fund-raiser

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Save-A-Pet, a no kill adoption center out of Grayslake, is holding its major fundraising event on March 24 at the Lincolnshire Marriott. The theme of the dinner/auction is "Wagging Our Tails into Your Heart."

Auction activity begins at 5 p.m. There will be both live and silent auctions, as well as dinner. Some of the items to bid on include the following: a Cub's package with a first pitch of the game, ABC Studio Tour, CD boom box, a leather Bulls jacket, a DVD player, many Precious Moments figurines among others.

Executive director Arlene Demb said, "We love donations, and can use all of the help we can get."

Save-A-Pet is a not-for-profit organization dedicated to finding quality homes for the dogs and cats in its care, and providing humane treatment to animals. "We currently have over 90 dogs, and 120 cats," said Demb. "Puppy and kitten season is just about here. I hope, though, that people will also look at some of the guys we have who have been here for a while and won't just go straight to the puppies and kittens."

For more information about the possibility of attending the dinner auction, or more information about Save-A-Pet and pet adoptions, call 740-7788 ext. 146.

"Puppies and kittens grow up to be adult animals," Demb added. "Older animals are a great choice for those who aren't able to be at home all day to provide the extra care required by the young ones."

Spring Break destination—home once again

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

Lynn Pringle

Well today is the last day of peace and quiet for us parents before Spring Break. Oh, are we ready for this? It's a toss-up as to which is more frightening: spending nine days within the confines of our households with the children, or spending nine days chauffeuring them from one end of the county to the other. Of course, for the four of us in town that haven't got an airline ticket with our name on it, in our kid's eyes, we are the slugs of the earth. While all their classmates are jetting off to the south of France or Key West, we make them fiddle the week away painting the dining room and cleaning out the garage.

Oh the moaning and groaning that we are going to be subjected to over the course of the next week. Every year we swear we will make plans to vacation the last week of March along with the other three billion inhabitants of this world just to keep the kids off our back, and every year we fail to make reservations early enough to get our first choice of destinations or accommodations. By the time we get up off the couch and dial our local travel agent, all that is left out there in tourist heaven within our price range is a yak trip through the Everglades.

So during the next week as we are wrestling with our offspring over household chores, and receiving daily postcards postmarked from all parts of the country from our friends and relatives, let's make a consciousefort to be prepared next March when Spring Break rolls around. And if purchasing four tickets is way more than your budget will allow, buy just two tickets for the kids and send them down to grandma and grandpa's house in Florida.

Of course there is a really good chance that you will be cut out of your parent's Will after the visit is over, but after spending a week with your children, your entitled inheritance will have dwindled down to absolutely nothing anyway, so what difference does it make. So do the best you can to muffle your way through the next couple of days with the children in tow, and we'll see you in the food court at the mall.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle."

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

Trade In Your Old Wood Burner or Fireplace Insert Now & Save A Bundle!

Do you heat your home with a wood stove or fireplace insert?
Was your wood stove or insert purchased before July 1, 1992?

If the answer to both questions is yes, consider trading in your wood stove or insert for a cleaner burning gas, EPA-certified wood or pellet burning appliance.

Save up to 30% on your annual heating bill.
Old wood stoves or inserts require more face cords of wood during one winter to keep a home warm and cozy. New wood stoves or inserts are more than 50% efficient and use substantially less wood. Their efficiency also translates into less time needed to keep a fir burning hot.

Protect the region's natural resources.
Old wood stoves create unnecessary winter air pollution, affecting the air we breathe, the quality of our local lakes and streams and the health of our region's natural resources. New wood stoves are certified by the EPA to be clean burning and are more than 85% cleaner than old wood stoves. Pellet, natural gas and propane gas stoves and fireplace inserts are also cleaner burning options.

Reduce risk of chimney fires.
The production of creosote is one of the major problems associated with wood burning. Changing to a new wood stove can reduce the amount of creosote generated and can reduce the risk of chimney fires substancially.

OSU!

For those unfamiliar, the proper pronunciation is like saying 'us'. Translated, osu is a traditional greeting in the world of martial arts.

And at the Annual Antioch Shotokan Karate awards banquet at Maravela's in Fox Lake March 18, joyous greetings were plentiful as the Antioch school honored its students for the hard work and dedication over the course of the past year.

"It was again very successful," said Sensei Anna Conners, ASK's Owner and Chief Instructor. "Everything fell together nicely. Maravela's is a class act. Everyone had a great time - I received a tremendous amount of positive feedback all who were involved."

In between ongoing raffles and silent actions, a Who's Who crowd of renown Sensei's and the 100 or so in attendance were treated to a smorgasbord buffet.

After a few bites of roast beef and chicken, special demonstrations were next on the agenda.

The Chicago Matsuri Daiko Japanese Drum and Dance group dazzled the audience with routines honoring the culture of Okinawa. The group has been performing at various festivals and fairs throughout the Chicago area for the past three years or so.

Then, it was time for ASK students to show their stuff. Levi Godsey, age 9, Efrain Oliveras, 6, and Shane Edling, 6, demonstrated Heian Shodan and Heian Nidan, two forms of kata. Sandy Hanson, who will turn 60, followed by demonstrating Kobudo, a form of kata using weapons. In martial arts terms, this kata, using a three-pronged pick called a Sai, is referred to as Ni-Cho-Sai.

Kicking off the awards portion of the afternoon saw Shane Conners, Linda Divito, Jeff DeBoer and Noelle Bruce claiming Spirit Awards over the past year.

Keith Plotz and Kelsey Maldonado were recognized as the Most Improved Students for male and female, respectively.

Kiyoko Fox (senior) and Tracey Calvert were then honored as Students of The Year, while The Mrozinski Family was awarded Family of The Year.

Rounding out the top awards was David Keller for Black Belt Excellence.

ASK, which has close to 200 students, again had great representation at all levels both in the Junior Olympic and various national competitions.

'Arigato Gozaimasu, or thank you very much to my entire dojo family' were fittingly the closing remarks by Sensei Conners.

St. Peter's girls hoops learning the ropes

By ROB BACKUS
Staff Reporter

The pre-game ritual for the fifth grade girls basketball team at St. Peter's school in Antioch set the tone for the entire season.

"Panthers, Panthers on the prowl,
Wait till you hear our frightening growl!"

Their fight song, followed by a long growl from the team, tended to give the opposition a moment of pause.

"They (the opponents) probably thought we were wackos," said head coach Paul Howard.

'The girls had a lot of fun and learned how to play the game. They were sad that the season was over but excited to get better for next year'

Paul Howard,
St. Peter's head coach

No, they weren't crazy. They were just having fun as the team ended their season of play in the Fox Valley Fifth Grade Catholic Girls League with a 6-1 record.

"We were the cardiac kids," said Howard. "All of the games were really exciting."

Despite the excellent record, the goal of the team and of the league wasn't wins and losses but to teach the fundamentals of basketball.

"We taught a lot of dribbling, lay-ups, shooting mechanics and basic offensive and defensive sets," said Howard of himself and assistant coach Gary Steffen.

Although there were some dominant players in the league who obviously had basketball experience, it was the fact that St. Peter's didn't have a dominant player that led to their success.

"We didn't have any great players but we also didn't have any weak links," said Howard.

Overall, Howard characterizes the season as having been a success.

"The girls had a lot of fun and learned how to play the game," said Howard. "They were sad that the season was over but excited to get better for next year."

Sequoit track has the right mix for new season

By JOE PRUSKI
Correspondent

The Antioch varsity girls track team began their season on a bittersweet note March 17 at the Lake Forest indoor meet.

The young Sequoits took third place out of four teams but proved to themselves and the conference that they are capable of becoming a very competitive team in the NSC.

"I think we did well considering this was our first meet of the season, this was the first time any of us have run indoors, and this is a very young team," said senior runner Mandy Hughes.

Hughes finished sixth out of 11 runners in the one mile-event. However, she usually runs the 400 and 800-meter races.

Along with the squad comes a new coach, Brent Pitt. This is Pitt's first-year teaching and his actions have shown that he is not afraid of making his presence known at the high school.

Aside from teaching physical education, he is an assistant football and wrestling coach. He feels that his team is more than capable of competing for a conference title.

"My goal for the team this season is to be in the top three in conference going into next season," he said. "I want to win conference next year."

Just one meet into the season, a star for the Sequoits is beginning to shine - junior Sara Brzezinski - who placed first in the 800-meter race and led the team back in the 1600 relay.

"My time wasn't as good as I wanted but I still took first, so I guess it really doesn't matter," Brzezinski said.

The girls competed on March 19 at Racine Park but results were unavailable at press time.

As for the boy's track team, head coach Norm Hahn is optimistic. With over 80 athletes going out for the team, there will be a good mixture of experience and youth.

"We're a young team with seniors that can be very good leaders," said Hahn.

The team will be looking for seniors such as Dave Rotsch, Mike Mercado, and Eric Langner to step up and lead this young team through a schedule of over 10 meets. Rotsch advanced to the state meet last year in the pole vault, something Hahn will be looking to build onto that this season.

"My goal is to send as many kids to state as possible," Hahn said.

The boy's season will kickoff on March 31 at the Leyden Invitational.

Sequoit baseball will call for learning on the job

By JOE PRUSKI
Correspondent

After being one run away from a state berth last season, the ACHS baseball team will be looking to rebuild from losing eight seniors to graduation.

Only five members from last year's squad remain, leaving this year's team with only two seniors and very little experience.

"We're obviously a lot younger - we only have two seniors. We're going to have to mature as a team on the field and try to improve everyday," said senior Jeff Petersen.

Last year's team finished with a record of 28-8 before losing to Fremd High School in the sectional finals.

"Last year, we had a special group of seniors," said head coach Paul Petty.

The focus of this year's season is going to be to improve as the year goes by while trying to find a good combination of players on any given night.

"We're willing to make adjustments. There will be various lineups, so were just going to mix it up to see who gets the job done," added Petty.

The Sequoits will be looking to find solid pitching to fill the spots behind the hard throwing left arm of their ace, junior Chris Malec. Juniors Shawn Schuler, Joe Finkelberg, and Ryan Callanan will all see action on the mound throughout the course of the season.

The biggest question mark up to this point for the young Antioch team will be their hitting. Last year, the Sequoits averaged just under eight runs a game and coaches believe that their hitting may play a key role in their final record.

"Our hitting could set the tone for how the season goes," said Petty.

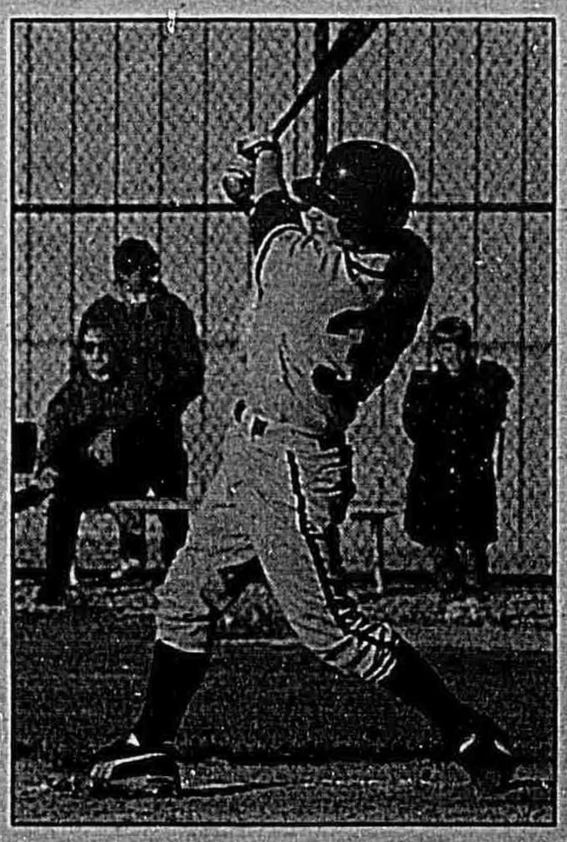
Juniors Chris Kocinski and Finkelberg are expected to step up and be the big bats in the lineup. Antioch has also opted to bring up two players from the sophomore ranks, Nick Severson and Scott Coles, to help add more depth.

As for team goals, Petty believes they are off to a fast start.

"I think we've already accomplished one (goal) so far, the way the team is coming together. I look for character first," Petty said. "We're building the character it takes to play baseball at this high school."

In terms of goals for the season, Petty's philosophy is simple: "Win the next game," he said, "It's a goal I have every year."

With the college baseball season getting underway, Antioch will be well represented having three of their eight seniors from last year's team playing college ball. Brad Groth will be playing at Elmhurst College, Jason Schuler will be playing at the College of Lake County while Nick Kocinski will be suiting up for the University of Chicago.



This year's ACHS baseball team will focus on improving as the season progresses and trying to find the best lineup.

Stormwater agency sponsors flood-proofing workshop

Lake County organization's event scheduled for April 13 at Gurnee Holiday Inn

If you can't stop the flooding, at least stop the damage. That's the theme of the Lake County Stormwater Management Commission's (SMC) April 13 floodproofing workshop at the Holiday Inn of Gurnee. The workshop is to help flooded property owners, residential or commercial, implement appropriate floodproofing techniques to achieve long-term damage reduction.

A national flood proofing expert will conduct the daylong workshop. Types of floodproofing, when and where to use floodproofing options and costs will be covered along with floodproofing funding sources and flood insurance. Floodproofing options include sealants, closures, floodwalls, inflatable barriers, elevation and relocation. All floodproofing techniques discussed in the workshop are endorsed by the Federal Emergency Management Agency—Region V—a co-sponsor of the workshop.

The workshop is open to elected officials, local government officials, property owners concerned about preventing future damages from floods; consultants and contractors who provide floodproofing services and products; regulators; and other interested parties.

SMC is encouraging consultants and contractors who do provide floodproofing services and products to send information for those attending the workshop. Brochures and pamphlets should be sent to SMT, Attn: Floodproofing, 333 Petersen Rd., Libertyville, IL 60048 by April 6.

The workshop runs 8 a.m.-4 p.m. and is $40 per person, which includes handouts and lunch. Space is limited. Pre-registration is required. For more on registration call Susan Vancil, 918-5265.

The workshop is part of SMC's annual Flood Awareness Week scheduled this year for April 9-13. The fifth annual week is a reminder to Lake County residents that everyone is vulnerable to flooding so be aware and be prepared and take action to reduce flood damages on your property.

Organization brings youth hockey to Lake County

By Rob Backus
Staff Reporter

In a county rife with youth sports, hockey has traditionally taken a back seat to other major sports such as football, baseball and basketball.

"The problem is that hockey equipment and ice time are so expensive," said Lake County Atoms President Keith Rutkowski, whose organization has spent over $250,000 in the past year.

However, through the hard work and growing popularity of the Atoms organization, hockey has taken a huge step forward in the past three years.

The mission of Lake County Atoms Youth Ice Hockey Association is to teach the youths of the community the sport of ice hockey and to develop team play and individual ice hockey skills through clinics and programs of ice hockey competition emphasizing sportsmanship, cooperation, self discipline, self confidence, individual responsibility and respect for others.

"It gives kids something to do and gets the parents involved," said Rutkowski. "Parents just want their kids to have fun and spend time with them."

The Lake County Atoms have teams in five different age groups. They include: Mite (eight-and-under), Squirt (10-and-under), Peewee (12-and-under), Bantam (14-and-under) and Midget (17-and-under), all which play out of either RinkSide Sports at Gurnee Mills or the Lake County Sports Center in Waukegan.

The Atoms field teams at both the 'travel' and 'house' levels of play. Travel teams play in the Northern Illinois Hockey League (NIHL). They practice and compete in tournaments with teams from states that border Illinois. This past fall season, there were two teams each in the Mites, Squirt and Peewee age groups. There were also Bantam and Midget teams, many of which

'Rhythms of Life' inspired by music at Pops Highwood

The mixed media collages of Andrew J. Lidgus were unveiled during a champagne reception for the "Rhythms of Life" art show at Pops Highwood, 214 Green Bay Rd., on March 10. The show will continue to run through May 4.

Lidgus' works are created with handmade papers, oil pastels, wax pencils and gouache. Andrew uses dazzling color, unique patterns and simple geometric forms to design compositions that are inspired by ancient mythology, history and pieces of music.

Lidgus recently unveiled a 21-foot-tall steel and glass column sculpture at 430 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, commissioned by the National Association of Realtors. The sculpture contains over 20,000 pieces of colored glass.

He received his Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree from Loyola University of Chicago, as well as a Bachelor of Music with a major in piano performance. Lidgus will give a special recital during the reception. Andrew's public and private collections include commissions for Holy Name Cathedral, The National Realtor's Association and Associated New Media in London, among others.

"We are very excited to have an artist of this stature at Pops who blends his love for music and art into such dramatic visual imagery," said Tom Verhey, owner of Pops Highwood and renowned Pops for Champagne in Chicago.

enjoyed success.

The top Squirt team won the NIHL championship this year while the top Peewee team made it to the final eight in the Amateur Hockey Association of Illinois (AHAI) championships. The other team made it to the final eight in the NIHL championship while the Bantam team finished their season by winning a tournament in Green Bay, Wis. The Midget team played in three tournament championship games at RinkSide, the Quad Cities and St. Louis, where it captured the title in the Thanksgiving Tournament.

House teams play in what is called the State Line League, a small league jointly created by the Atoms, Kenosha and Zion organizations so they have other teams to play instead of just their own. The Atoms also have 'select' house teams that play in the North Shore Youth Hockey League (NSYHL). A select team is formed by picking the best players from within the house league. In the fall season there were four Mite teams, four Squirt teams, one Squirt select team, three Peewee teams and one Peewee select team, almost all of which had success.

The Squirt select team played and lost 2-0 in the NSYHL championship game and the Atoms won three league championships at the Mite, Squirt and Peewee divisions in the State Line League.

The Atoms also run a 'Learn To Play Hockey' program for four-to eight-year-olds that consists of about 40 kids. The program is run in conjunction with RinkSide Sports at Gurnee Mills. After first learning how to skate, the kids hone their skills on the ice.

All told, there are about 300 kids participating in the Atoms organization. Rutkowski, for one, likes to take a hands-on approach with the various teams and programs.

"I like to participate as much as I can with all of the teams," said Rutkowski, whose son Steve is a member of the Midget team. "I try to get to as many practices, events and games as I can. I like to think that all 300 people are my kids."

Although his son's youth hockey career is over, Rutkowski plans to run for re-election as president of the organization in which his wife Joanne is also heavily involved.

"We want to keep moving the organization forward and to keep hockey affordable to everyone," said Rutkowski of himself and the other 13 board members of the Lake County Atoms.

There are two seasons within the organization, the traditional fall season and the spring season that is currently ongoing. Anyone interested in participating in the Lake County Atoms should go to www.atomshockey.com for information regarding the organization.

Local Kiwanis Clubs seeking youth for environmental program

Kiwanis Clubs throughout Wisconsin and Upper Michigan are inviting high school students to participate in a three day natural resource workshop at Trees For Tomorrow in Eagle River May 6-9.

"Many Kiwanis Clubs sponsor 'Key Clubs' which are service clubs for high school students in their area, and he organization asked us to provide a workshop for Key Club members and for other high school students in Kiwanis communities," said Trees For Tomorrow Director Jim Holperin.

"Our three day sessions include a considerable amount of field study during which various resource-related skill are taught," he explained. "Students learn tree identification, orienteering, wildlife management techniques, water ecology basics and others. Participating students also practice environmental decision-making and problem-solving skills during the workshop and are exposed to several career options in the natural resource field."

Key Clubbers and other high school students interested in attending the early May workshop should contact their local Kiwanis Club or call (800) 838-9472 for more information. Kiwanis Clubs will provide scholarships for part of all of the cost of the workshop, but students will need to find their own transportation to Eagle River.

"Students who have completed a 'Trees' workshop will attest there's really nothing like it in resource education today," Holperin added. "Our program is conducted by a staff of foresters, biologists, ecologists and other professionals who are skilled at challenging students to think of creative ways to approach conservation practices and solve natural resource problems. Our location in the heart of the northern forest and our field study opportunities make learning fun and really make a lifelong impression on students who attend."

The Friday night show begins at 8 p.m. and the Saturday shows are at 2:30 p.m. and 8 p.m.

The New Tradition Men's Chorus is the current international silver medalist chorus in a cappella singing. This 120-plus man organization was formed in 1981 and is a member of SPEBSQSA (Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Babershop Quartet Singing in America). Although most members are from the northern Illinois area some drive from as far as Green Bay every Monday night just to sing with a group of this quality. Members range in age from early 20s all they way to the mid-80s.

The type of music they sing is reflected in their name. The "new tradition" style of barbershop boasts a repertoire that includes contemporary broadway tunes, as well as gospel, '50s, and many familiar favorites. Included in their 100-plus song repertoire are many of the older traditional barbershop tunes as well.

In addition to outside performances, the New Tradition produces two shows each year. A spring show in late March and a holiday show in early December.

In addition to shows, the chorus also supports men in learning the art of singing four-part-harmony. Their "Ready Set Grow" program held on rehearsal nights teaches the art of singing four-part harmony to potential members of the organization. It is not necessary to know how to read music and is open to all men ages 18 and up.

Mascot controversy to be discussed

Author to speak on origins of Indian mascots in sports, sign book, 'Dancing at Halftime'

Carol Spindel will discuss and sign copies of her recent book, "Dancing at Halftime: Sports and the Controversy over American Indian Mascots" (New York University Press), on Saturday, March 31, at 2 p.m., at the Mitchell Museum of the American Indian, Kendall College, 2600 Central Park Ave. in Evanston.

In the book, Spindel examines the origins of Indian mascots in collegiate and professional sports and the contemporary passions surrounding them, with special emphasis on the University of Illinois's "Chief Illiniwek," the costumed "warrior" who dances at home football games. Spindel is an adjunct faculty member in the English department at the U of I, Champaign-Urbana.

More than 4,000 U.S. schools use American Indian-based team names and mascots.

"We are still unwilling to relinquish a vision of our history that demands mythic settlers, a mythic frontier, and mythic Indian warriors," Spindel writes. The mascots reflect a fondness "for a romanticized illusory past that never was, not for contemporary Native people or culture."

Admission to Spindel's talk is free with an entrance donation to the museum. Suggested donation is: $5 for adults; $2.50 for seniors, students, and children. Maximum suggested admission per family is $10. For information, phone 475-1030.

Divorce University: What you need to know

Divorce is expensive, financially and emotionally. Both effects can be longlasting. But financial issues almost always impact women more negatively than men.

In part that's because, despite progress in many areas, women still earn less than men: about 75 cents on the dollar according to U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics. It's also because of the fact that due to the nature of the jobs women hold, they often do not have pensions. Often, divorced women are left with no share of their ex-husband's pension, even after a long marriage.

So it's no surprise that maintenance, pensions and retirement plans, and division of property are the top three financial issues in divorce, says Jeff Simon, CPA and financial planner. "These issues are at the heart of a woman's current and future financial security," he notes.

These issues are also at the heart of a day-long workshop, Divorce University VI, that will be conducted Saturday March 31, 2001 by The Lilac Tree, Women in Transition, Inc. Speakers and panelists include judges, attorneys, mediators, financial planners, career counselors and therapists.

Divorce University VI will be held at the Winnetka Community House, 620 Lincoln Ave. in Winnetka from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Tickets are $100 at the door, $90 in advance. For more information, contact The Lilac Tree at 328-0313.

One of the presenters in Divorce University VI will be Jay Frank, an attorney who's practiced family law for 30 years. He ranks property division as "the most significant issue in a divorce case. Property awarded to a spouse can provide stability and long term security."

Child support and maintenance are close behind in Frank's view. "In most middle income cases," notes Frank, "the amount of support is set by percentage guidelines contained in the Illinois Divorce Act. Support for one child is 20 percent of the payor's take-home pay; 25 percent for two children; 32 percent for three and 40 percent for four."

As for maintenance (formerly known as alimony), Frank points out that payments can be deducted by the payor and count as taxable income for the recipient.

More information on these and many other topics will be available at Divorce University VI on March 31. For more information and reservations, call 328-0313.

Study finds 67 percent favor Rte. 53 extension

By TIM FROEHLIG
Community Editor

A poll commissioned by the Citizens to Protect the Quality of Life Through Better Transportation, a group made up of citizens and politicians, shows that about two-thirds of Lake County residents support extending Rte. 53 north and east to Grayslake.

The poll was conducted among 1,200 confirmed, registered voters who live in Lake County by telephone from Jan. 29 to Feb. 4, and proportionately included those living in all six of the county's state representative districts.

Nick Panagakis, who is the head of Mt. Prospect-based Market Shares Corp., presented his company's findings to an audience that included notables such as Grayslake Mayor Pat Carey, Vernon Hills Mayor Roger Byrne, Barrington Village President Ron Hamelberg, Green Oaks Mayor Tom Adams, and State Rep. Sid Matthias (R-51st Dist.).

With a margin of error of plus or minus 3 percent, 67 percent of those polled initially said they would favor the extension of Rte. 53.

"This is clearly the most important question in the survey," said Panagakis. "It clearly shows very strong support (for the extension)."

Those polled were also asked whether they preferred a Rte. 53 extension or an alternative proposal being examined by LCTIP's (Lake County Transportation Project) task force, which would instead widen existing roads such as portions of Routes 21, 12, 83, Tri-State I-94, and St. Mary's Rd. When asked which of the two plans they favored, 51 percent of voters surveyed favored a Rte. 53 extension, while 32 percent were for the road widening projects. Those who had prior knowledge of the road widening project favored a Rte. 53 extension by an even wider margin of 63 to 29 percent.

The only surprise of the survey, according to Panagakis, was that there was more support for Rte. 53 in the eastern portion of the county

Rte. 53 opponents say study is misleading

Naysayers say support for new toll road dwindles when residents learn large toll hike would be needed

By TIM FROEHLIG
Community Editor

A survey conducted on behalf of the Citizens to Protect Quality of Life Through Better Transportation is misleading, according to the Environmental Law & Policy Center (ELPC).

The survey showed that in an initial survey question, 67 percent of 1,200 people polled in Lake County said they were in favor of extending Rte. 53 east to as far as Rte. 120 in Grayslake.

However, opponents feel the study is misleading, and that public support would be significantly less if those polled were aware extending Rte. 53 would require a massive toll increase.

"Tollway proponents can bounce around a lot of bogus numbers about who supposedly supports Rte. 53, but the only number that really matters is $1.25, because that's how high tolls would have to be raised to build the road," said David Kolata, policy analyst at the Environmental Law & Policy Center. "The Toll Authority has admitted that building Rte. 53 would require a massive toll hike and toll hikes are hugely unpopular, so any support there is for the project evaporates once people realize that it would require a tripling of tolls."

Opponents of Rte. 53 also argue the Toll Authority fails to include Rte. 53 in its 2001-2010 construction plan because they are unable to afford it. According to Kolata, this means the earliest Rte. 53 could be constructed would be in 2013, assuming two years of construction time, if the money is available.

The ELPC also notes that a scientific poll conducted in 1999 by the Chicago-based Coalition For Consumer Rights shows only 22 percent of people in the Chicago metropolitan area, and only 17 percent, would be willing to pay higher tolls to build new tollways like Rte. 53.

Schmidt reflects on first 100 days in office

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER

Schmidt

Suzi Schmidt, who also represents Lake County Dist. 3, began her two-year term as Lake County Board Chairwoman on Dec. 4, 2000. Her vice-chairwoman is Judy Martini, who represents County Dist. 1. Schmidt's first 100 days in office have been, by her own account, uneventful.

"What I expected and what I found were one and the same," she said. "I'd been doing the same kind of work with (former Lake County Board Chairman) Jim LaBelle (as vice-chairwoman), so I was ready for the job."

Although there were "no big surprises," the new chairwoman found she was putting in a lot more hours at the office.

"I'm there every day for eight hours, plus meetings," she said, as she noted that she had committed to making the position a full-time job.

As the first woman in Lake County to chair the board, Schmidt said there were no special challenges.

"I'm just one of the gang," she laughed. She was insistent on pointing out that the county board chairperson does not make decisions, but facilitates the decisions of the board.

During the first quarter-year of Schmidt's term, she has overseen several issues that began under her predecessor.

"We're working with our federal legislators

Stormwater agency takes top flood-fighting awards

The Lake County Stormwater Management Commission (SMC) board members took a bow after receiving two National Association of Counties (NACo) awards in Washington, DC at NACo's Legislative Conference.

Carol Spielman, SMC vice chair and County Board member, accepted the awards on behalf of SMC's "Comprehensive Mitigation Planning" and "Community Outreach and Risk Education" programs. NACo and the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) presented the awards to recognize outstanding efforts of elected officials working to build disaster resistant communities presented the first-time awards.

'We are one of the few countrywide agencies in the region to have such a comprehensive flood hazard mitigation program and our success is a credit to those who chose to think outside the box'

Dick Welton, SMC chairman

The awards are significant because this is the first time individual counties and communities have been recognized for hazard mitigation programs and activities.

The purpose of each award is to honor outstanding elected officials who have implemented effective techniques and programs in disaster resistance and prevention, and, in the process, have made their communities safer places which to live and work.

"We are one of the few countrywide agencies in the region to have such a comprehensive flood hazard mitigation program and our success is a credit to those who chose to think outside the box. It took a lot of courage for both mayors of our communities and the Lake County board members to support mitigation projects politically and financially," said Dick Welton, SMC chairman.

SMC's on-going flood hazard mitigation strategy actually began with public workshops intended to involve stakeholders in flood hazard mitigation goals and objectives. Based on information gathered from over 200 people in attendance at four workshops, SMC went about identifying and collecting data on over 300 flood hazard areas throughout the county through field investigations and property owner and municipal interviews. Since then, SMC has drafted a Flood Hazard Mitigation Plan, which is expected to be adopted later this year, and begin buying out repetitively flood damaged homes and properties using a combination of federal, state and local cost-share funds to carry out the acquisitions and demolition's.

"The wheels started turning six years ago and haven't stopped since. The concept of flood hazard mitigation was a challenge to sell but the perseverance of the County Board, municipal officials and SMC commissioners proves that we recognize the flood potential in the county and the need to reduce the damage from it, " Spielman.

Both Welton and Spielman admit keeping flooding on the minds of everyone when it's not raining is a real challenge, which is why SMC started a Flood Awareness Week every spring since 1996. Flood awareness week, flood insurance seminars and traveling displays, and other activities throughout the year were also recognized by NACo and FEMA as vehicles to educate people on the floor hazards around them, and to encourage homeowners to take steps like flood-proofing and buying flood insurance to protect themselves. This year's week will be held April 9-13 and includes and flood-proofing workshop.

Competitive Community Initiatives plans workshops

The Competitive Community Initiatives (CCI) program in the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) will begin accepting new communities in June 2001. To be considered, communities must send a t least one representative to one of the three workshops offered by CCI.

The workshops will be held March 28 at DCCA, 620 East Adams St., Springfield, March 29 at City Hall, 535 DeKalb Ave., Sycamore and April 3 at the Holiday Inn, Mt. Vernon. Workshops begin at 9 a.m. and conclude at 3 p.m. with a lunch break on your own form noon to 1:30 p.m. To obtain a registration form, call the CCI office at (217) 782-7514. Completed registration forms must be mailed or faxed by March 26.

The CCI staff will conduct the workshops and explain the competitive application process as well as competitive community initiatives.

The CCI program provides assistance to Illinois communities by facilitating a community's development process. Communities participating in the program receive help from DCCA staff in undertaking a community self-assessment, developing an organizational structure and creating a strategic plan to help the community achieve its goal.

CCI was founded on the belief that local citizens must create their own destiny and assume responsibility for promoting economic development in their communities.

Controlled fires bring new life to Forest Preserves

Controlled prescribed fires to restore prairies, wetlands, woodlands and other natural areas in the Lake County Forest Preserves are underway this spring and will continue through mid-May, weather permitting. An expansion of the Forest Preserves' burn program helped safely bring the benefits of fire to over 1,000 acres throughout Lake County last year.

"Poor weather last fall prevented us from burning several hundred acres," said Jim Anderson, Lake County Forest Preserves natural resource manager. "We've targeted those priority sites for our spring burn program."

Forest Preserves under consideration for controlled prescribed burns this spring include those with high-quality areas and habitat restoration sites such as Lakewood near Wauconda, Grant Woods near Fox Lake, Greenbelt near Waukegan, Lyons Woods near Waukegan, Old School near Libertyville, Rollins Savanna near Grayslake, McDonald Woods near Lindenhurst, Van Patten Woods near Wadsworth, Cuba Marsh near Barrington, Ryerson Woods near Deerfield, Half Day near Vernon Hills, Middlefork Savanna near Lake Forest, Prairie Wolf near Lake Forest, Spring Bluff near Winthrop Harbor and Wright Woods near Lincolnshire.

Controlled prescribed burns decrease non-native weedy plants and encourage native plants to reproduce. They mimic the natural wildfires that occurred before Lake County was settled. The fires remove dead leaves, stems and twigs from the ground, exposing soil and seeds to the sun's rays early in the growing season. They also reduce the threat of wildfires and help recycle nutrients.

Wildlife populations have adapted to survive the burns. Most animals are safe underground or high up in trees; others move out of the way to avoid the fire. Burns are timed to avoid wildlife nesting seasons. "We've actually seen a marked increase in wildlife populations after controlled prescribed burns, which indicates healthy habitat," added Anderson.

Forest Preserve staff and volunteers complete an intensive training program before conducting prescribed burns to ensure that proper safety measures are taken to protect people, facilities, plants and animals in the Preserves and surrounding properties. Local fire and police departments are notified before and after each burn. Forest Preserve staff closely monitor each burn with appropriate safety equipment and, if necessary, stay overnight at the site until the fire is completely out. Wind and other weather conditions are monitored daily and help determine which Preserves are selected for prescribed burns.

For a free set of brochures on the Forest Preserve burn program and other natural resource management efforts, call the Forest Preserve general offices at 367-6640.

Way to protect Chief for history

Blinded by self-righteousness and slavish devotion to political correctness, the band of opponents of Chief Illiniwek doesn't know how wrong they are in trying to destroy a symbol of majesty and greatness that represents the University of Illinois. The embattled Chief could become a beacon for overcoming the legions of bigotry and prejudice.

Two opposing forces, friends and foes of the chief, keep hammering away at each other. The confrontations fuel anger in the participants, and frustration and despair among U of I alumni and supporters of the great educational institution who by and large are devoted to the Chief. Official talk of a "compromise" only emboldens native Americans, civil rights groups, education professionals and others to continue their drum beat opposition to Chief Illiniwek. Views of the more than 70-year-old tradition as the embodiment of racism and misrepresentation are misguided and hypocritical.

In the latest go around, U of I Board Chairman Gerald Shea hinted at a way out of the imbroglio that is worth considering. Shea suggested that a new educational role could be carved out for the Chief. Why not?

With less dancing and prancing, and more appearances at seminars and non-athletic events, Chief Illiniwek could represent native Americans deservedly desiring understanding, drawing on a rich tradition of love and devotion for the embodiment of our state's native American heritage.

Drop the political and cloying connotations of compromise. Let Chief Illiniwek's outstretched arms embrace understanding, recognition, devotion and learning.

'Needles Beach' offered to public

Leave it to head-strong Fox Lake Mayor Jim Pappas to defy accepted wisdom of replacing community beaches with man-made pools that offer clean, safe and organized swimming for families seeking summer fun.

While neighboring communities are building and operating state-of-the-art pools—even up-grading in some cases to high tech acquatic centers, Pappas wants to construct a beach and lakefront park for $100,000 on flood plain land acquired for $225,000. Give Pappas points for frugality. Critics, though, point out the Pappas beach plan is frought with obstacles and danger.

For one thing, the beach would front on one of the busiest boating channels in the Chain O'Lakes, home to more than 24,000 registered watercraft. The lake bottom for the proposed beach is littered with beer cans, broken glass, abandoned fishing tackle and discarded hypodermic needles. The prospective recreation area once was a favorite "park and shoot" spot for dope addicts and derelicts. Peter Jakstas, director of Fox Lake's Emergency Service and Disaster Agency and a Pappas appointee, sees the beach plan as a threat to health and safety.

There appears to be only one way of heading off the questionable beach project—electing a new mayor and changing some village trustees. This could happen in the April 3 election.

Baxter testing its citizenship

Baxter Healthcare Corp., both in Lake County and around the world, has a well earned record for good corporate citizenship. The corporate giant maintains a philanthropic arm that has given generously to Lake County organizations.

That feeling of good neighborliness is being put to a test as complaints and charges are aired that Baxter is not doing as well as it might in connection with the safe operation of its industrial wastewater treatment works at Round Lake. Dissatisfaction with Baxter has been voiced over the company's treatment works discharging effluent into Squaw Creek. The meandering stream, collecting run-off from the county's largest watershed, empties into Long Lake, a recreational lake located between Fox Lake and Round Lake.

Long Lake residents plan to raise questions at a public hearing Thursday, March 29, conducted by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency. Specifically, they intend to question Baxter's own goal to reduce regulated waste and nonhazardous waste by only a third over a 10-year period. Critics say the Baxter initiatives appear inadequate for community health and well being. Baxter regards the small quantity of compounds discharged as "miniscule."

The question may not be raised at the hearing, but inquiry is due as to why Baxter hasn't been required to connect to the regional sewage treatment works at Fox Lake like everyone else? While other small and inefficient treatments works have been shut down all over the county in recent years, Baxter has continued to operate its own industrial waste treatment facilities since opening 25 years ago.

Baxter's reputation for good corporate citizenship is at stake. So is public health.

VIEWPOINT

Tax cut help for local schools

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

If they choose, doubting Democrats and Republicans laden with debt guilt can look upon plans for a federal tax cut as aid to education.

Pretty sneaky of those conniving Republicans.

In a locality where every school district is scratching and scraping for more money, the modest tax cut proposed by President George W. Bush, if enacted quickly, would be turned over immediately to the nearest public school.

Eight school districts have tax hike questions on the ballot Tuesday, April 3——Fremont Consolidated, Mundelein High, Barrington Unit, Lake Zurich Unit, Round Lake Unit, Antioch High, Libertyville High, and Grayslake High. Any give back by the feds would be merely a pass through for taxpayers in these districts—providing rate increases are enacted.

Think of it this way: Linked as they are in the pocketbook of the people who pay the bills, a tax cut and a tax increase can accomplish the same end—financial help for public education. Only the $200 or so federal tax cut that looks like it can happen won't go far enough to balance the average school tax hike.

Commuter club

Members of the Gurnee Breakfast Exchange Club run a tight schedule. Meeting starts at 7 a.m. and ends at 8 a.m. sharp. No leeway. "We're all commuters, some to jobs in Chicago. So we run on time," explained member Pat Gallagher. The tight schedule will suit guest speaker Adm. David Polatty at the Tuesday, March 27, meeting at Oceana, Rte. 41 and Delany Rd., who'll rush back to Great Lakes Naval Training Center after giving Exchangites an update on the world's largest naval training center.

Help on the way

An expert on school finance, Lutaf Dhanadina, is drawing up a three-year budget for the financially troubled Round Lake Unit School District. Neighboring school districts are watching closely what happens because of threats that the district might be dissolved.

Dhanadina has approximately $40 million per year to work with. The rapidly growing district has been sinking deeper into red ink every year since 1991. School finances now are being handled by a state appointed oversight committee. Dhanadina is the retired business manager of Deerfield schools. His former boss, Max McGee, now is the Illinois school chief.

Looking for replacement

The harder Kathleen Johnson works, the sooner she'll put herself out of a job. That's because she is serving as interim director of the University Center of Lake County where a search is being conducted to locate a permanent director. But the respected educator isn't a candidate for unemployment benefits. "I'm an employee of the University of Illinois and I'll be returning to Urbana-Champaign," Johnson points out. Johnson is happy turf battles over siting the facility are past history. With its own board of directors, the multi-versity can focus on building and growing the facility that reached 1,200 students in four turbulent years.

Dinner train

A dinner excursion is a new weekend diversion that should find favor among residents of the North Metra rail commuting system. Dining fans in Libertyville, Grayslake, the Round Lake area and Fox Lake can board a Metra commuter bound for the Lake-Cook station. There they'll find the welcome mat out at Macaroni Grill, a short walk from the station. A few weeks ago five couples from Ingleside enjoyed a half hour cocktail trip before dinner. They were back home before 10 p.m. Wonder if Metra moguls are ready to exploit a new social fad?

Seeking 'good news'

Amber, a fifth grader in Ken Larson's class at Cornell, Ill., Elementary School, has written the Lakeland editor in search of "good news" newspaper articles. We'll try to oblige this interesting project being conducted by the young people at their school near Streator. Amber advised that Mr. Larson is planning to bike, walk, canoe, parachute, swim, rowboat, horseback ride, rollerblade, jog or wheelchair his way along the Grand Illinois Trail in June, covering 500 miles on a junket that might bring him to Lake County. Sounds like things are popping in Cornell. We'll send clippings to Cornell and keep and eye out for Mr. Larson.

Off for Russia

Susanne Sklar, adjunct faculty member at Shimer College, has been awarded a Fulbright Teaching Fellowship for 2001-2002 to teach literature at Ekaterinberg in Russia at the Urals Pedgaogical University. She will be employing the Waukegan college's teaching style of small discussion classes based on text study. The works of Dosotoevsky are part of Shimer's core curriculum.

Thumbs down on beer and wine at Gurnee Mills Ice Rink

SEEING IT THROUGH
John S. Matijevich

I read that the ice rink at Gurnee Mills is seeking permission from the village board to allow it to sell beer and wine to all patrons of legal age on a daily basis. Up to now, the facility is allowed to serve wine or beer at corporate or private parties in a private party room.

The village trustees seem cool to the idea. Some have said that the facility, before it opened, went out of its way to say how the facility would appeal to families. Is this yet another case where a business says "the right things to get its foot in the door," and then does whatever it can

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Ex-bandmaster, activist drawing campaign sparks

A clash between a retired bandmaster and the ambitious daughter of a once powerful Republican politician is producing sparks in a township battle that will be settled April 3.

Zion Township Supervisor Truman Hudson, 78, is employing "Stars and Stripes Forever" gusto to fend off the challenge of Cheri Neal Ditzig, who came within four votes four years ago of retiring Hudson, who is remembered as tutoring outstanding bands at Warren High School.

Hudson: Staying in tune with voters.

Hudson, who still plays trumpet in combo gigs, hasn't forgotten his musical roots. He's flooding the township with refrigerator magnets in the shape of a trumpet.

Incumbent Hudson is discounting his opponent's GOP roots inherited from her father, Bob Neal, a former County Board member and past party chairman who served in other elective positions. "Party leaders advised Cheri not to run again," Hudson commented.

Ditzig lists as a strong point her ability to juggle multiple assignments. She does seasonal work for the Illinois Dept. of Transportation, coordinator and supervisor for Zion Park District and is an operations assistant at a women's fitness center. In the summer, she drives a bus for seniors. Ditzig served as a substitute elementary school teacher after getting a degree from the University of Wisconsin Parkside.

Voicing support

John P. Reindl, long-time village administrator for the Village of Lake Barrington, still remembers the value of an endorsement from his days on the Lake County Board two decades ago. That's why he's speaking out for John McGuire, candidate for Fremont township supervisor and two Fremont trustee aspirants, Bob Bohl and Lorraine "Rainey" Ray.

Added duties

Former Lake County Board member Ed Fojtik, a pharmacist by profession, has added dispensing pharmaceuticals to his duties at Kiley Developmental Center, Waukegan, where he has held a supervisory position. When holding elective office, Fojtik served west Lake County district.

Moore honored

State Rep. Andrea Moore (R-Libertyville) has received another honor for her work protecting Illinois' natural resources and open spaces. She was awarded the "Nature conservancy Award" from the Illinois Chapter of the Nature Conservancy.

Moore is a former president of the Lake County Forest Preserve. She created the landmark Open Space Preservation Program "Open Land Trust," dedicating $160 million over four years to protecting, preserving and enhancing our natural lands.

"Illinois currently ranks 48th out of 50 states in the amount of open space available for outdoor recreation. That cannot be allowed to continue," Moore said.

Second place

Even though it's an election year, politics took second place to fellowship Friday night at the annual Wauconda Township Corned Beef and Cabbage dinner, a must event on the campaign trail. That's because incumbent slates for both the village and township are running unopposed.

Homeowners not forgotten

Antioch Mayor Marilyn Shineflug isn't taking lightly barbs being fired at her that her administration has favored commercial interests over individual homeowners. Beginning with a 1,600 word Candidate's Night statement about village progress since elected in 1993, Shineflug has been speaking out on projects of special interest to homeowners. Shineflug's detractors claim that "there's a lot of potholes to fix."

Uphill climb

Mark Liddell is making that toughest of all grassroots political campaign—breaking through the wall as an independent of an entrenched administration. Liddell's views on growth and development differ widely from the forces of Wauconda Mayor Jim Eschenbauch. He tuned up for village government by serving on the Wauconda Park Board. The current rhubarb over new Wauconda Orchards expansion is made to order for Liddell. Open spacers are fighting plans for 255 residential units on the buildable acres of an extensive water and wetlands area. Liddell is providing leadership for the opposition.

Education begins where school leaves off

THE PFARR CORNER

Jerry Pfarr

Actor, director, writer Woody Allen, 45 years ago, was expelled from New York University for inattention to his work.

Actor, writer Dan Aykroyd, 30 years ago, was expelled for delinquency from St. Pious seminary.

Actors Tom Cruise, John Travolta, Nicolas Cage, Michael J. Fox, Johnny Depp, Cuba Gooding Jr., Joe Pesci, Charlie Sheen and Robert Downey Jr. were high school dropouts.

So were actresses Rene Russo, Roseanne, and Drew Barrymore. Also, entertainer Wayne Newton and talk-show host Don Imus.

Sometimes the brilliant become bored with the bourgeoisie.

Actor, singer Cher quit school as a teenager, ran away from home and landed in Los Angeles.

Michael Douglas flunked out of college in his freshman year.

Jim Carrey, when his accountant father was laid off, quit high school to make money doing janitorial work.

Marlon Brando, 60 years ago, was expelled from Shattuck Military Academy.

I found all that trivia quite by accident while leisurely perusing a new, handy, dandy little reference book, "The 2001 People Almanac." It gives us "the full lowdown, the inside dope," on our 600 top celebrities.

Not in the People Almanac but in my personal piles of files I also found this:

"Several years ago the University of Pennsylvania gave an honorary degree to actress Candice Bergen, who had flunked out there in 1965 after her sophomore year.

"I was not a focused academic candidate," she told the graduating class. "School officials politely asked me to move on."

And this: Several years ago an elderly woman told me she sat behind Marlon Brando in a Libertyville High School algebra class. "I was totally intimidated by him," she said. "He never had his own supplies, so he would turn and snap at me: 'Hey, kid, give me a pencil. Hey, kid, give me some paper.'"

Brando, the bully, wrote in his autobiography: "I was a bad student, incorrigible. The parents of some of my friends treated me as if I were poison."

Also from my files, this: Woody Allen says, "It turns out everything your mother said was good for you, milk, red meat and college, are bad for you."

Which brings us to an opinion that always seems to ignite an argument: A college degree often is vastly overrated.

For example, there are newspapers that won't hire a reporter, or a photographer, who isn't a college graduate. How pompous is that? There are many capable, even brilliant, writers who never went to college. Meanwhile, there are many college graduates who can't write a lick.

I certainly am not knocking education, which is a precious pursuit. But as Ralph Waldo Emerson, a pretty good philosopher and writer, said, "The things taught in schools and colleges are not an education, but the means to an education."

Al Gore might be president today if more of the people who intended to vote for him were educated enough to cast a simple ballot.

Chief Justice William Hubbs Rehnquist recently gave this excellent advice to a graduating class:

"For most of you, these diplomas end your university education. But don't stop now, college courses aren't the only way. There are libraries, galleries, theaters and museums, and you don't have to pay tuition for them. You'll find the more things you're interested in, the more enjoyable your life will be."

to make a "bigger buck?"

From what I have seen just be peering into the skating facility, it does cater to the younger skaters and customers, and there is nothing wrong with that. The arcade attracts many youngsters. Of course, many parents and other adults come to the facility while their children participate at the rink. Nothing wrong with that, either; in fact, it's refreshing.

Because the ice rink is geared to the young, I believe that the Gurnee Village Board is on the right track if it efuses to grant permission to the facility to serve wine and beer to its patrons. My guess is that there has not been an outcry from those adults who accompany their kids to the facility that beer and wine be available for them. I'm sure that the management just sees it as a way to bring greater profits to its bottom line.

Since the facility seems to cater toward the young, it would be interesting if we posed to all of the young who are skating or using the facility while their parents are there: "Do you believe that we should serve wine or beer to your parents while they are here with you?" We always like to think that parents know more than their children, but my guess is that the youngsters would vote about 90 to 10 that their parents need not drink an alcoholic beverage while accompanying them to an ice rink. By the way, I believe that the poll results would be about the same if posed to parents.

It has been some time since my son played Little League baseball; but there were times when I saw some overly enthused parents, without even water on their breath, get involved in some anxious moments. Strangely, it was usually those who knew the least about the sport who became the most emotional. I'm not sure how they would have reacted if they would have had their emotions further stimulated by the "king's brew."

I would think that the facility management would be concerned, both from a liability and an image standpoint, that serving alcoholic beverages at a facility that boasts its family atmosphere, just isn't the responsible thing to do. Yes, parents may be more careful because their children are along, but there is always that percentage who might go overboard, and that can create a real problem.

Ice in an alcoholic drink may mix. But, alcoholic beverages at an ice rink where many of the patrons are below the drinking age, just doesn't mix at all. I have faith in the Gurnee Village Board. This is one request that they will "put on ice" for a long time.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Unethical candidate

I am so tired of reading newspaper articles and letters to the editor in which Mayoral Candidate Stacy Braverman is made to look like a victim. She continues to prove to the public that she is unethical and untrustworthy. Not only in the way she receives her campaign contributions but now the news of her delinquency in paying her water bills. How could someone who wants to govern think it is acceptable to pay only six water bills on time over the last three years?

MORE LETTERS: See Letters to the Editor /B6

Stacy claims that the reason she ran for trustee was because of an issue she had with the village over a fence her and her husband constructed a couple of years ago. This is a fence that was built in violation of a couple of village ordinances.

Lisa Sullivan
Grayslake

Common vision

It takes someone with foresight and dedication to develop such a well-balanced community like Mayor Dick Welton has in Gurnee. Mayor Welton has helped our town grow from a small rural community to one of the best run villages in the state, the envy of our neighbors. The Gurnee 1st Team believes in education, quality of life and ensuring exceptional police, fire and emergency services for the residents. The Gurnee 1st Team has a common vision for the future of Gurnee. If you care about Gurnee, I encourage you to re-elect Mayor Dick Welton, vote for Trustee candidates: Jim Haines, Karen Thorstenson and Chuck Crowley and vote for Mary Jo Kollross for clerk. The Gurnee 1st Team cares about Gurnee.

Donna Tomei
Gurnee

Tax raises

Sue Simpson is not telling the truth about Warren Township taxes. I have become aware of Sue Simpson claiming to have reduced taxes. I decided to look at my property tax bill to verify her claim.

Guess what? My property taxes going to the township went up every year that Sue Simpson's been the supervisor. She had to increase our taxes to pay for that huge, unsightly building she built without a referendum. John Shearron has earned my vote for township supervisor.

Paul Tousignant
Gurnee

Afraid of plans

As Coordinator of the Emergency Service and Disaster Agency of the Village of Fox Lake for the past 20 years, the safety of our citizens has been my concern.

Where are Mayor Pappas and the village trustees priorities? I attended several meetings where they kept on crying when the remodeling of the village hall referendum was defeated, complaining that the roof leaked and that the police department was out-dated and needed expansion.

Now, a few months later, election time comes around and what do they do? They spent $225,000 on flood plain property with the plan to spend another $100,000 to establish a lakefront park. Shouldn't the police department and public safety come first?

The property they bought is known as the DuBell property and is located next to Beer Can Bridge, one of the busiest channels in Fox Lake. This scares me to death for the safety of our children and citizens. When your park is on the lake, kids will be in the water. The lake bottom in the area is covered with broken beer bottles and fishing hooks. Even more important, if a child goes out from shore 40 feet he will be in the channel of boat traffic. Boaters could be blinded by sun reflecting on the water and never see the child Is it worth risking a child being injured or killed because of a political promise to build a lakefront park? I don' t think so. Life is too short and precious.

The village administration is planning a launching ramp in this area for the residents. Where are they going to park the cars and trailers? Also, the railroad tracks and Rte. 12 are next to this property.

Mayor Pappas and trustees, for the safety of our children and citizens please reconsider your plans. Unless you put an 8 foot fence all around it, this is not the place for a Village park.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Water park folly

The Water Park that was defeated in the November 2000, election is again surfacing its ugly head and will be on the April 2001 ballot as a referendum. The park district seems to think that it will pass based on the fact that it was defeated by some 81 votes in November. If this passes, your taxes will increase.

It does not stop there, either. The village will also be asking for a tax increase to improve fire protection due to increased calls. This alone would increase the average homeowners taxes $45 a year, and a better issue to support than a water park. Add the water park and the library improvements to the tax slate and who knows how high our taxes will go, especially year after year to maintain the water park? Oh, and don't think you would not be required to pay an annual fee, as well, to use the water park. You will. Where does it end. The village's poor planning should not fall on the taxpayer. They should have been able to plan five years ago for these projects, setting aside revenue each year for this.

A water park within an eighth of a mile from a Bangs Lake seems ridiculous. The Park District needs to concentrate its efforts on beautifying beaches along the lake, mowing the parks more often in the summer, and cleaning up goose droppings more often along the park sidewalks, so people could walk to town without playing hopscotch.

The use of such a water park will also encourage out of the area users and groups to come to this area to use the water park, and be a hang out for gang activity, stressing our small Police Department resources.

Please, in April, even if you are not intending to vote for local officials, please vote "NO" on the pool referendum, and the Library referendum for certain. Force the park district to improve what it already maintains without a tax increase.

Richard J. Abbatiello
Wauconda

Remarkable record

The decision to place two referenda on the ballot is not an easy one; however, it reflects the only choice available if we want to continue the quality education that high school students receive. The current building site cannot support any additions, and it will be over capacity in two short years. We must act now to plan for the growth we know is coming, as it takes at least two years to build a new building. By passing this referendum, we also are in line to receive an additional $6.7 million dollars from the Capital Development board. We will not receive these funds unless the referendum is passed.

Not only must we fund a new building, but we must be able to staff it with teachers, books, instructional supplies, and the like, which is why we must also support an increase in the education fund. There has been no education fund referendum since 1985; how many of your households have received no increases in the last 16 years? This certainly is a tribute to the administration and board's fiscal skills. Did you know that Grayslake spends less per pupil than any other high school in the area? It is certainly remarkable that our students do so well given this fact.

Katrina Heden
Grayslake

School 'shoppers'

Ed Sullivan, assessor for Fremont Township, has for the several years that he has held that position, earned a reputation for fairness to the homeowner. In a recent message to his constituents, he wrote that when viewing your tax bill if you think that the value of your home is too high, go to see him. But if when viewing your tax bill, you think your home was valued correctly, but you are upset with the amount of taxes you have to pay, you need to discuss this with the people that vote to spend your money.

Since the lion's share of property tax money is dedicated to School District 79 (in Fremont Township), the place to start reducing your taxes is right at the focal point of the problem, the school board. They would have you believe that the children will suffer, if the school board does not get everything it believes it's entitled to. Not so. It is possible that some teachers and administrators will not receive what they believe they are entitled to, but alas, that's the way of the world. Education is the biggest in Fremont Township. It should be run like a business.

We do have recourse. On April 3 we get the opportunity to once again demonstrate our displeasure with the "shop 'till you drop" philosophy adopted by the board. Vote against the school referendum. Elect some "new blood" for the board seats being contested.

Hank Jacoby
Wauconda

Publicity stunt

Mayoral candidate R.J. Walsh has done a great disservice to Grant Community High School and the senior citizens of Fox Lake. He made promises to the seniors of "free" transportation, using the school's buses, an idea that has little chance for success—and he probably knew it. He is willing to put the school in an awkward position just for personal political gain.

After getting his free political I-am-running-for-mayor publicity stunt, he THEN intended to give his "proposal" to the school administration. Doesn't common sense and logic say "talk to the school first" to identify the issues? No, Mr. Walsh was only worried about getting some newsprint and votes. He would rather have the school say "no," than admit he had an unworkable idea.

He never consulted with school officials, as he claimed, to learn about the real issues. What is worse is that he is playing to a real need in the community—an issue too important to be used as an election year 11th hour political plaything.

Casino damage

Mayor Dick Welton overstepped his bounds when he supported a Waukegan casino on behalf of Gurnee citizens. By proposing a resolution that only raised concerns about such a casino, Gurnee Trustee Don Rudny properly corrected a misperception of blind Gurnee Village support for such a casino. It was good to see the village board support this resolution unanimously.

A casino for Waukegan is not only a Lake County issue; it is also an issue for the citizens of the entire State of Illinois. Who will get the casino license? Will it be another political insider and heavy campaign contributor to state officeholders? Without competitive bidding for state gambling licenses, I cannot see how any Illinois resident could support any further expansion of gambling.

Further, as a neighbor, Gurnee village government has the right and obligation to petition Waukegan government with Gurnee's concerns on any activity that affects the citizens of Gurnee. In the past, Mayor Welton himself fought a high-density apartment development in Waukegan that would have presented problems for Gurnee and Waukegan citizens alike on both sides of the Gurnee-Waukegan border. Since an improperly developed Waukegan casino could damage the fortunes of both towns, Mayor Welton should not criticize Don Rudny for raising concern over such potential damage.

Right thing

I am voting "yes" on both referendum questions that Grayslake Community High School will have on the ballot on April 3. I don't want to pay higher taxes. I have other ideas for how to use the money. But the truth of the matter is that I believe three things:

- That our school board has done all that they could to ensure that our children have received a quality education in a fiscally responsible manner. In other words they have spent our tax dollars wisely. If they say that they need more to continue providing the same I need to help allow that to happen.
- That very soon GCHS will be too full of students for them to receive the kind of education they, and we, deserve. It takes more than one summer to get a high school built. We need to allow our school board to begin preparing now. It takes money to do this, and if we pass the building fund part of the referendum we will be able to take advantage of an additional 6.7 million in grant dollars.
- That we, all of us, benefit when our schools help us to prepare our children to make the tough decisions when it's their turn.

So it is time for me to stop whining, stand up straight, march into my polling place and vote yes to both questions because it is the right thing to do.

Serious planning

I was asked to contribute as a member of the Public Advisory Committee, a group that worked with consultant Pete Pointner in developing the new Comprehensive Plan for Fox Lake. Fox Lake has approximately 1,000 acres of undeveloped land within the corporate limits and an additional 3,500 acres within our planning jurisdiction.

This project was initiated by the existing village board, which includes Clerk Voelz; Trustees Shearer, Hunter, Murrey, and spearheaded by Mayor Jim Pappas. They understood that not only growth, but how we grow was important.

I was impressed with their vision. It also became evident to me that it was very important for them to insure things were done not only above board, but for the benefit of all the people of Fox Lake. The Comprehensive Plan meetings were open to the public and anyone who attended was not just a spectator.

Contrary to Fox Lake United's position, a lot of thought and effort went into creating this plan. The new plan became law when it was adopted Sept. 5, almost 12 months to the day after we began.

With all due respect to candidates Koske, Allsot, Bender, Edward and Prosperi, they may be all well intentioned people, but good intentions doesn't necessarily insure a good outcome. In looking through my copy of the attendance record for the Plan meetings, their names are not among those listed. So, it begs the question, is their concern for the future of Fox Lake a more recent condition?

New perspective

We have a chance on April 3 to re-elect Carol Zerba to the Village of Lindenhurst board of trustees. She has served a distinguished term as village trustee for 13 years. She usually received the most votes of any trustee each election. She previously served with a dedicated determination to do her best for the village. She will bring experience and new perspectives. We remember her as being an involved trustee with a mind of her own. Let's all welcome Carol back to the Lindenhurst Village Board with a vote on April 3.

UFO intervention?

My neighbors convinced me to attend the zoning board meetings to see what was going to happen at the Wauconda Orchard property. They were distressed and trying to gain my support. I went to the meeting. Very interesting. The petitioner was there with paper work and legal staff. Citizens were there in large numbers, I'm sure many of them (like myself) with some trouble arranging their lives to be there. The board was NOT there. No quorum. No meeting.

There are several possible reasons for this. Most obvious and my choice is political. Get the people to come enough times for nothing and they will give up. Then the board can pass what it wants with no opposition. Of course it may not be that. There could be an epidemic around. Perhaps UFOs captured the others. This is a group of people who apparently wanted these jobs. It was a meeting their group planned. It seemed to a lot of citizens to be important.

Cheers for GCHS

"Sometimes you wanna go where everybody knows your name." This line may remind you of a popular Boston gathering place, Cheers. Yet, it reminds me of another place, one in which I have spent much time. Grayslake Community High School, my high school.

As a graduate of the Class of 2000, high school is still fresh in my memory. Grayslake High is just like home. The classes are small enough where each student has the opportunity to know his teacher, and the teachers know their students. At GCHS, a student is not just a number. The teachers and the administration actually know your name. Students walking through the halls of GCHS see familiar and smiling faces at every turn. Here, everyone feels comfortable and welcome.

Isn't this the type of high school that most parents would choose for their children? As taxpayers and voters of our community, don't you want to insure that our students continue to receive a quality education from a place as unique as Grayslake Community High School?

Without your YES vote, Grayslake High will no longer be a place "where everybody knows your name."

Taking shape

The needed improvements for Gurnee's East Side have been discussed quite a bit lately. I've lived on the East Side for 12 years now and we really need a quick facelift to help us get out of the doldrums. The project's consultant just identified short-term landscaping improvements at a cost of around $50,000. That would be a small price to pay to show the community that ALL of the Village residents are important. Combined with widening Grand Ave. to add a turn lane, the landscaping will make strides towards a nicer appearance for the East Side. I want to thank Karen Thorstenson, and Mayor Dick Welton for encouraging me to voice my concerns about the neglected condition of the East Side of Gurnee to the village board and Chuck Crowley for his leadership in this matter.

Revered mayor

Mayor Dick Welton has been a real hero to Warren Township High School. He has always supported his alma mater by endorsing its quality education and co-curricular activities. He is a visible figure at many athletic and co-curricular events at the school. He supported initiatives to build a new school and increase the education fund rate.

He always made sure the Village of Gurnee worked with the school so it could obtain the maximum legal amount of impact fees from developers. Under his leadership the Village of Gurnee has worked with the school to insure a safe environment. He is credited with the Village having a history of hiring Warren students for both summer and full time employment.

Dick Welton was inducted into Warren High School's Wall of Fame in 1995. There is no one more revered by the Warren High School community than Mayor Dick Welton.

Unanswered questions

Taxpayers paying taxes in the village of Wadsworth and Newport Township should take a careful look at their tax bills.

We are paying a gravel tax to the township for the maintenance of half to one mile of gravel road. Newport Township has a total of about 17 miles of roads.

A year ago, at the town meeting, I tried to bring this subject up for discussion. I sat in the front row with my arm raised, but was told repeatedly by the moderator, "Later." Later didn't come before adjournment.

I don't know what happened to the gravel tax, because it was never mentioned in the reports, but it sure is on the tax bills. Also, the tax specifically states it can be used for ONLY gravel and maintenance. It should be mentioned in the budget reports.

I went to the County Treasurer's office and the County Clerk's office. I found the Newport Township Annual Financial Report, filed with the state comptroller. That requires ALL townships road and bridge funds be published, does not mention the gravel tax. But it does mention 10 full-time employees that are not mentioned in the treasurer's annual report.

It's puzzling to me, but I'll try asking questions again at the town meeting scheduled for April 10 at the Wadsworth Village Hall.

Acknowledge Welton

Years ago a local reporter doing research on Dick Welton called me for a telephone interview. I have been a friend of Dick's from the first week we started kindergarten in the long ago raised three room school house on Kilbourne Rd. During this interview I was asked what it was going to take to get this guy out of office. That tone seems to resonate in some circles today with little acknowledgment of what Dick Welton has done for Gurnee over the last 28 years. Gurnee has come a long way from the days of that three room school house, and with exceptions, all of the current amenities that service our community today are the direct result of a deep commitment and well defined vision exercised by Dick Welton.

When Mayor Welton was elected in his first term, Gurnee was still a dot on the map. We did not have a library or park district. The fire department was all volunteer, paid on call, and lacking a paramedic program. There was no full-time mayor village administrator and the police department was comprised of a patrolling chief and one full-time officer. There was zero public transportation. For years preceding Dick, these services and conditions worked, but Gurnee was on the move and Dick was the right man at the right time to meet the challenge. He is still the right man. For 13 years I served as trustee on Gurnee's village board and was chairman of the plan commission when the first comprehensive land use plan was established.

County initiates bill now before General Assembly

As part of its "2001 Legislative Program," a wish list of legislation the Lake County Board is seeking from the State of Illinois, the board desires additional state funding for local groundwater studies, which it hopes House Bill 927 will accomplish. The bill passed the House Rules Committee and is awaiting its second reading in the Illinois General Assembly.

If passed, the bill requires the Department of Natural Resources to conduct a study on groundwater, drought management and aquifers, which are underground sources of water flow.

According to Lake County Board member Bonnie Thomson Carter, who sits on the Governor's Blue Ribbon Water Resource Advisory Committee, "Groundwater flow is not held within municipal or political boundaries. As a result, decisions that impact water resources need a regional view and without comprehensive data on water management, decisions that impact multiple regions cannot be made."

Collecting comprehensive data on the quantity and quality of water resources is estimated to be a multi-million dollar project, and local communities cannot afford to fund the necessary studies.

As introduced, the bill obligates the Department of Natural Resources to develop an understanding of the structure of the state's aquifers, determine the groundwater flow through specific regions, determine the chemistry of groundwater and analyze current groundwater withdrawals.

"Currently, no state or local agencies have the authority to regulate groundwater withdrawals and supply and demand are starting to conflict in some areas. We cannot make informed decisions about what course of action to take without conducting the necessary studies," said State Representative Mark Beaubien (52nd District, Lake County), who added an amendment requiring the study of groundwater withdrawals.

The Lake County Board presented the groundwater initiative to state legislators as part of its annual legislative program because it views water resource management as a concern in communities throughout the county and state.

STORMWATER

"In 1990, the plan was the first of its kind in the state. We had the best available information to put together a responsive and proactive agency and we did. But the county has changed dramatically and while stormwater management is now an accepted way of doing business, its time we evaluate, tweak and retool if need be to make our program even more successful," said Richard Welton, SMC chairman.

Welton was a leading proponent in implementing a stormwater program for Lake County. As mayor of Gurnee for the past 28 years, he saw first hand the effects of flooding and it's long-term implications. He has been SMCs one and only chairman, starting with the organization of the Stormwater Management Planning Committee, and since the agency formally changed its name to the Lake County Stormwater Management Commission in 1991.

SMC has pulled together a 15-member ad-hoc committee, the Stormwater Advisory Committee (SAC) to assist the Commission in updating the Comprehensive Plan. Members include municipal, drainage district, county, emergency management, regional planning, environmental, development and flood victim representatives. They held their first meeting.

"SAC represents our key partners in stormwater activities and programs in Lake County. They are at the front line of stormwater management every day and we hope to tap into their perspectives and expertise to define or redefine what stormwater management should be for the county, and how current programmatic and policy issues fit that definition," said Ward Miller, SMC executive director.

Since 1991, SMC has focused on flood mitigation, a regulatory program for new development, and watershed management plan development. Some issues facing the agency include a lack of funding to develop watershed management plans for all watersheds and to perform drainage way maintenance; the need for updated floodplain mapping for regulatory and planning purposes; and the practice of responding to parcel-level drainage issues as opposed to solving watershed-level problems.

Miller admits not all issues will be resolved in this plan update but that through SAC, a good "road map" will be developed.

"The most important goal of the committee is to identify issues and recommend policy direction to the Commission. What should SMC's role and priorities be in the next 10-20 years? We are very excited about that prospect because the need for stormwater management doesn't end after a rain event; it is a continual need whether you are a homeowner or a municipal official. And we have to find the best programs and activities to help those constituents every day," Miller said.

The public will have an opportunity to comment on the draft plan update later in the year. SMC and the County Board will adopt the final plan.

As far back as 1982, the Lake County Department of Planning, Zoning and Environmental Quality (PZEQ) was conducting surveys to assess the degree of municipal, township and special district involvement in county flood, drainage, and stormwater control. In 1987, state legislation enabled Lake County to create the Stormwater Management Commission (SMC) and established its initial duties. SMC's foundation is based on a municipal and county partnership. The SMC Board is made up of six municipal members and sic County Board members.

The Commission now has the responsibility for implementing the Comprehensive Stormwater Management Plan adopted by the Commission and the County Board in 1990. The Plan establishes a framework to coordinate the stormwater activities of more than 90 jurisdictions in the County. The adopted Watershed Development Ordinance, which regulates new development countywide is one component of the Comprehensive Plan.

Other components are (a) projects to reduce existing flooding and water pollution problems, (b) rehabilitation of existing drainage systems, (c) flood event emergency response and post-flood mitigation, (d) multipurpose utilization of open space, natural floodplains and other natural resources through appropriate land use planning, (e) inter jurisdictional coordination and technical assistance and (f) public information.

SCHMIDT

on getting more money for highways," she said, citing one of the most pressing issues in the county.

"In Springfield last week, I was working both sides of the aisle to try to get the state to allow the county to get a referendum for a one-quarter percent sales tax," the chairwoman said. The additional tax, 2.5 cents on every $10 spent on consumer goods (not on food or prescription drugs), would help fund highway improvements.

Another issue the county board has been working on is public aid to nursing homes, such as Winchester House in Libertyville. The board is working on getting legislation that would raise the county's reimbursement from 1992 levels to those of 1999.

Other initiatives underway include redistricting the county. This task, done every 10 years, is based on census figures. Its purpose is to insure representation is spread evenly throughout the county's population.

"We have 115,000 more people in the county than before," Schmidt noted.

Land preservation, one of Schmidt's longtime pet projects, is still a priority. The county continues to move forward in purchasing farmland development rights.

"We are exploring ways to keep farmland as farmland," the county chairwoman said.

One of the Forest Preserve's newly acquired parcels is the 92.5-acre Widiger property, with 3,600 feet of frontage on Grand Ave. adjacent to Lindenhurst. The land will be kept undeveloped. A trail grant is to be requested, so the county can extend the growing county trail system through the parcel.

"This is an energetic board, with lots of goals," Schmidt declared, summing up the past 100 days and looking ahead optimistically to the next 630.

than he expected. The survey showed 59 percent of those polled in that region favored the extension of Rte. 53. In the western region, 77 percent were for the plan, while in the central/south area, 69 percent said they were in favor of the proposal.

"I think this shows a pretty strong consensus," commented Matthias on the results of the survey.

Supporters of the extension, such as Matthias, noted 73 percent of voters questioned say traffic congestion is rated as the major problem in Lake County. Additionally, the Citizens to Protect the Quality of Life cited a 33.9 percent increase in passenger vehicles from 1990-99, combined with a population increase of 19.7 percent, only spells more trouble for the area's traffic woes unless something is done to aid the situation as soon as possible.

If a Rte. 53 extension is constructed, about half of those polled said user tolls would be the best way to pay for an extension, while 29 percent stated motor fuel taxes would be the best way.

Additionally, Matthias said the group plans to forward a copy of the study to Gov. George Ryan's office, as he had formerly requested information regarding the public's attitude toward the possible extension of Rte. 53 east to as far as Rte. 120.

Several times during the press conference, Matthias and Panagakis were interrupted with laughter and other comments by anti-Rte. 53 protestors, who felt the study was misleading.

Latest 'Veggie Tales' video premiere set

By LYNN GUNNARSON DAHLSTROM
Correspondent

Ufda! This Saturday, March 24, Sonshine Books in Antioch presents the premiere showing of the newest VeggieTales video — "Lyle the Kindly Viking." The premiere is at the Antioch Theatre, 378 Lake Street, Antioch.

Lyle the Kindly Viking is the fifteenth in the popular, widely distributed VeggieTales video series produced by Big Idea Productions, headquartered in Lombard. VeggieTales is a kids' video series that teaches timeless values like honesty, kindness and forgiveness in a way that the producers describe as "delightful and wacky."

'You have all these Vikings who are doing Viking things... and at the same time, there's a little Viking who is staying at home making pot holders.'

Phil Visher

Hosted by Bob the Tomato and Larry the Cucumber, each video in the series teaches an important life lesson. "The hilarious stories feature top-quality computer animation, infections songs and lovable characters," the producers said.

Lyle the Kindly Viking is a lesson on sharing. In the new video, Archibald Asparagus aims for new heights in veggie programming by attempting to produce the world's first all-vegetable staging of Shakespeare's "Hamlet," the first-ever "Classy Songs with Larry," and for the grand finale, the world premiere of what Archibald believes to be Gilbert and Sullivan's lost musical, "Lyle, the Kindly Viking."

Big Idea Productions President and Chief Creative Officer Phil Visher said, "I think my favorite part about Lyle is just the silliness of the story itself. You have all these Vikings who are doing their Viking things — pillaging and plundering and taking giant screen TVs. And at the same time, there's a little Viking who is staying home making potholders."

Kathy Bailey, music and video buyer for Sonshine Books, said that the Antioch video premiere will be fun for all ages. "We'll have a few drawings before and after the video. The Antioch Theater's concessions will be available.

"Viewers will also get a sneak peak at upcoming video features, like the new '3-2-1 Penguins' video and a new VeggieTales movie called 'Jonah and The Big Fish.'"

Bailey said, "I love VeggieTales, even as an adult. They're full of corny humor." Bailey added that although all ages and backgrounds can enjoy Lyle the Kindly Viking, "People with Scandinavian heritage might especially have their interest peaked by this video. It will be good for Scandinavians to learn more about their background."

Visher said, "The very media so often used to dispirit can be turned inside out to spread Judeo-Christian values — values like thankfulness, forgiveness, loving others and sharing."

Tickets for Lyle the Kindly Viking are $2 each. Children one year and younger are free. Bailey said that for the premiere of the VeggieTale's Esther video last year, "We sold out the last two show times, so we encourage everyone to get tickets early."

Show times are 10:00 a.m., 11:30 a.m., 1:00 p.m., and 2:30 p.m. Advance ticket purchases at Sonshine Books are encouraged. For more information, call (847) 395-7737.

Stopping the bullies

PARENT'S PLACE

Dr. Sherri Singer

Hi Dr. Singer,

I read your last column about school shootings and I do agree with it and feel that you had a lot of great things to say, but I wanted you to go into something a little bit more. That is the bullying problem. I have a son who is in 3rd grade and he gets teased and bullied a lot and there just doesn't ever seem to be a faculty person around to hear it or see it. Even on the playground at recess, my son tells me that the faculty out there who are supposed to be watching, just don't watch. Rather, he describes them talking to each other in what sounds to me like, "coffee clutching" instead of watching the kids. Consequently, my son is teased mercilessly. Now, we have taught our son about right and wrong and would never expect him to hurt anyone because of the teasing, but there are other kids on that very same playground or other playgrounds across the country who might and I believe it is the adult's responsibility to stop that bullying behavior from happening. I know that what you said about teasing never being an excuse to hurt another person is right, but maybe if we can stop the bullies too, we might have more luck. Just a thought. J.K.

Hi J.K.,

You are absolutely right! I have written numerous past columns about the need to come down on bullies like the proverbial "wall of bricks." My point is and always has been and always will be that we need to start punishing bad behavior of any kind in this country, and fast! At the same time, we need to be teaching right from wrong, and that any action or word of violence or intention of violence needs to not only be severely punished, but punished for others to see, so that kids get the right idea of what happens to a person who commits violence, instead of the warped news version.

Please see SINGER / B12

There are a lot of very responsible and great faculty people at our nation's schools, but there are also people who are not as vigilant as they could be. We live in a time, in which, ignoring the bullying behavior of a kid may mean a worse violent outburst later. We just can't do it anymore. I know there are those out there who believe it is an over reaction to punish a kid for mentioning violence with no history or intention of real violence. I ask those people to tell me how it is that they know for sure that there will be no violence just because the kid hasn't done it before? The answer is, there could be and if there could be, that is enough to take action immediately. We've seen, all too painfully, what happens if we don't.

I've been asked many times, when is it too early to stop violent or bullying types of behavior in kids and my answer has always been as early as they understand it. Even with a very young toddlers, you can grab hold of an arm (firmly but gently) in flight towards hitting something or someone and say a very firm and scowling, "NO." If you do this constantly and firmly, your child will learn it is not acceptable to you and stop. It's when we don't stop that behavior or when we stop it sometimes and not others that it becomes a problem. Even worse yet, when parents protect the bullying behavior of their kids, it is not only worse, but nauseating to me to see that. And boy have I seen it. I don't honestly know what a parent thinks they are getting out of protecting their bullying child's bad behavior. It certainly doesn't make for a very good future and these days, it is downright dangerous.

Again, I will say that bullying has been around forever. In fact, I was bullied. In second grade, I used to have to run to the bus from a hiding place to get on the bus without being knocked down by the 5 boys who seemed to have a need to see me cry. I know all about bullying. Once they were found out, they were punished severely and it stopped, but it didn't stop before that. It takes chronic adult intervention. And for those adults who think that bullying and being bullied is just a part of growing up, I sincerely beg to differ. It is only a part of growing up where adults are being lax and not doing what they should. To those who would tell me that it is difficult to foresee these kinds of events, I say "hogwash." It is not tough to know which kids are already showing signs of either being a bully or being picked on chronically. Again, I say, being picked on is no reason to hurt someone, ever! In fact, I will say that each school shooter who claims to have been "teased" into doing the shooting is actually the bully. Bullying is taking power over someone for the purpose of hurting them. Usually bullying occurs with malice of forethought and fun while bullying. I have seen these school shooters and they sure don't look like they feel they have done something wrong. That is a bully. If adults would do their jobs and punish the bullies and anyone who says or does anything even close to violent, I believe we would have part of this solved. The other part is up to the parents to actively teach their kids what is o.k. and what will be severely punished. What is right and what is wrong. They are absolutes and they need to be taught every day. When I was being bullied (I was also bullied in 7th grade) I would never have dreamed of being violent to anyone. That is because my parents taught me and helped me associate horrible, negative feelings with violence of any kind.

Today, parents have to work extra hard because they are fighting with the wonderful world of television, movies and those violent video games. I firmly believe that the reason so many of our kids are so enamored of guns and violence is because they have been so desensitized to the violence from interacting with all three areas of media. Unfortunately, the entertainment industry thinks that the violence needs to keep becoming more vivid and realistic. Equally as unfortunate, it makes parenting even harder. My recommendation: monitor what your kids watch and play from very early on and try to keep them away from the violent imagery that desensitizes them. Teach them to feel horror and loathing about violence, so they never want to be a part of it.

If I were you, I would be on the phone to the school, tomorrow to let them know about what is going on with your child. A child needs a guarantee of safety and security before anything educational can take place. You need to brainstorm with the school about taking on the bullies in a way that will stop them now and make them feel much less power than they think they have.

A word of warning to you and the staff people who take on the bullies. We all know that when a bully is "outed," if adults aren't watching scrupulously, the bully will find a way to continue to bully the "narc" or the kid who told. You must make sure that the staff working with you will be vigilant and on top of any bullying behavior immediately to stop it and punish it severely.

Bullying, like any bad behavior, can be stopped and I firmly believe it is possible to put an end to this cycle of violence we are witnessing in our country's schools.

"No one fought my cancer harder than CTCA"

(Cancer Treatment Centers of America)

"My doctor in Philly gave me 2 months to live. I came to Zion and in 3 months, my tumor has shrunk by 25 percent."

"This hospital healed my body. I didn't expect to be healed spiritually as well."

"The people here are like a family."

"I would have been lost at a university hospital. I know I would have been just a number."

"Why didn't I know about this hospital sooner?"

"You need to tell everybody about this place."

You have cancer. Or you love someone who does. Why consider Cancer Treatment Centers of America? Why leave the care of referred doctors and hospitals? Why travel possibly hundreds of miles for your cancer treatment? Why try new and unfamiliar therapies?

The answer, for thousands of patients, is the reason they to come to CTCA. Twenty-five years ago, we determined the state of cancer care was unacceptable. So we embarked on a mission to treat people with cancer, in ways that would make a real difference in their lives and those of their families. Today, our widely acclaimed care, which combines the latest medical technology with nutritional, spiritual, physical and psychological intervention, has served as a model for cancer care nationwide. It is total care for mind, body and spirit.

Just one of our core passions is nutrition. Faced with the fact that more than one-third* of cancer patients die of malnutrition, we realize how crucial nutrition is in an overall treatment plan. We begin with an initial assessment of your body's nutritional needs. A registered dietitian creates a well-balanced plan to boost or sustain your immune system, and help reduce the side effects of your treatment. As with every aspect of treatment, you'll become a partner in your nutritional progress.

If you or a loved one are currently fighting cancer, call oncology information specialist Doug White at 1-800-577-1255 to find out how CTCA can help you in your battle.

Kitchen design changes with times, buyers' tastes

By NANCY KREMPELY

Pat and I had always wanted to own our own business. Then our next door neighbor told us he was selling his business. We thought we could do both, have a career outside the business and do the business as well. I found out big time that you can't do both.", explained Catherine (Kay) Hutmacher about the decision to purchase Liberty Kitchen and Design. Five years into the business, Kay left her job as a teacher to run the business full time.

Kay explained that the first months were bumpy. "When we first took over the business everything in design was white. But we didn't like the quality of what was being offered at Liberty Kitchens."

Now the use Wood Mode, a well respected manufacturer of cabinetry. "They offer such a range of designs and models that we are able to match whatever our customers need and can be assured that their lifetime warranty will keep the kitchens in wonderful shape."

One of her biggest tasks, though was in finding a design staff. They now employ two full-time designers, Bill Kiley with over 30 years experience, and Lee Thulin with over 45 years in the industry.

Kay detailed her commitment to her customers, "Since we all live in the community our responsibility is to the customer. I would never want to meet someone on the street knowing that I hadn't done an excellent job for them." The focus of Liberty Kitchens is with mid-priced project, offering value, service and quality without sacrificing individual requirements.

There have been many changes over the past 10 years. Kay told about the industry, "When we first entered the market everything was painted white or was very dark. Now people want a more natural look and we are ripping out those white and dark woods."

If customers want white they turn more to the vintage white which is a brown undercoat with a cream enamel overlaid. When a customer wants a more natural look they use maple or cherry with an heirloom finish that is accomplished by using a white glaze over the wood. There is something new on the scene, though, and for a darker look there is a cherry wood with a black glaze which leaves not only a darker finish, but a darker accent to the carvings in the cabinetry.

Along with cabinetry, Liberty Kitchens offers a full range of countertops. "The most frequently used is Corian or granite.

Catherine (Kay) Hutmacher, owner and Tammy Felish, office coordinator, oversee the showroom of Liberty Kitchen and Designs in Libertyville.

When people redo their kitchens they want a big change and usually of for a more complete, more elegant look. They want the crown moldings, the glass paneled cabinets, things they have seen before and now want in their house."

When an individual comes to Liberty Kitchens they can view many different examples of kitchen styles. These are complete with sinks, countertops, work islands as well as cabinetry. These models are finished with enough detail that the customer is given a true idea of the many possibilities in kitchen design. "We approach each job with an eye to what the customer wants, what they are looking for. When we go into specific designs, there is a $750 designer fee, but that is taken off the final cost of the job. When you sit in a kitchen we have designed we want you to be 100 percent satisfied. Our mission is a job completely and well done."

Liberty Kitchens and Designs, Inc. is located at 627 N. 2nd, Libertyville, IL, 367-0025. The showroom hours are Monday-Friday 9 a.m.-5 p.m. and Saturday 10 a.m.-1 p.m.

Organized garage becomes asset to modern home

Did you ever consider the fact that the garage is often the main entryway into your home?

How about the fact that a garage is much more than a covered space for you cars – it can substantially increase the storage area in your home. Moreover, you may be in your garage as often as 10 to 20 times per day. A cluttered and disorganized garage can certainly leave you feeling down. On the other hand, a well-designed garage can foster a positive feeling of being in control. The following tips can create a garage that serves as an integral part of your home.

1) The first crucial step is to get rid of things you have not used in the past three years. During this process, try not to get sentimental. Give what you can to charity and toss the rest.

2) Store as much as possible off the floor using shelf space and pegboard for hanging items. The floor space is available for the bulky items as well as sufficient room to safely maneuver and park your cars.

3) Bicycles take up a disproportionate amount of floor space and often restrict the ability to freely open car doors. With proper planning, including consideration of the best route in and out, bike racks are most efficient. In fact, depending upon available wall space, you can store four bikes using only the floor space of one.

4) Garage analysis show that the left wall is usually the worst location for shelving or bike storage; the space is needed by the driver parking on the left side. The back and right walls tend to be better suited for storage.

5) Since shelving can be floor-based or suspended above the floor, be sure to have sufficient floor-based shelving if there is storage needed for children's recreational items. Plastic or wire baskets are also an effective means of allowing kids easy access to their toys.

6) Shelving can be deep or shallow depending upon the size of stored items and the depth and width of the garage. Shallow shelving has the advantage of avoiding stacking and reaching to the back. Deep shelving permits more storage space.

7) Pegboard is an effective, non-intrusive storage material for yard tools. Most important is that it can be stored on almost any wall. However, it pays to invest in the thicker, more stable pegboard hooks so they aren't constantly shaking loose out of the holes.

8) Should you be using two recycle bins, consider placing one above the other on a shelf about 24 inches above the ground as close as possible to the door from the house to the garage. You are now taking up half the floor space you did before.

9) Be sure that anything protruding from the garage walls does not impede daily traffic routes and the opening of car doors. The dreaded nicks and dents will be successfully avoided.

10) Respect your garage as you would popular rooms in your home. Proper care will add benefits you never dreamed of.

In wobbly economy, home good investment

After a decade of steady and sometimes spectacular growth, the economy is finally cooling off. The stock market is no longer invincible. Consumer confidence is somewhat waning, its lowest level in two years. Yet, the housing market keeps rolling merrily along at or near record levels of construction and sales, both new and old.

One theory is that in the face of a fading stock market, homes represent a surer investment than stocks or other options markets.

"According to Freddie Mac, home values have increased about 7 percent over the past year across the country. That's better than a lot of other investment choices," observed Mark Elliott, president of Elliott Group Inc.

Despite the parade of dismal economic reports leading to widespread pessimism, the economy is not as dismal as it might appear, suggests Helen Weiss, a principal of pioneer condominium developer Weiss Development Group.

"After all, the job market is still very tight with exceptionally low levels of unemployment, and incomes are still rising. That's a strong platform that encourages people to buy homes and, more importantly, for empty nesters to sell homes," said Weiss, who is coordinating development of Village Greens of Lincolnshire, the company's third luxury condominium development in that north suburban community.

Another key to the strong housing market are the "almost irresistibly low" mortgage rates now available to home buyers, adds Irwin Berkley, president of Century Development Group.

"The latest weekly report on mortgage rates by Freddie Mac puts the average rate for a 30-year fixed-rate mortgage at the end of Dec. at 7.13 percent. That's the lowest rate since May 1999 and considerably lower than the high of 8.64 percent that we hit in May 2000," said Berkley. His firm is currently developing Danada Woods Townhomes in Naperville and The Woods of Ivanhoe, a gated golf course community of luxury custom homes.

AREA YOUTH SPORTS NEWS, NOTES, HIGHLIGHTS

Basketball
Jr. Vikings

It was a very rewarding and successful season for the Kenneth Murphy Jr. High seventh-grade boys basketball team. They finished with a 14-7 record and tied for third in the conference standings.

The highlight of the season was a first-place finish in the College of Lake County Tournament held in January. This was a very exciting tournament that included a quadruple-overtime victory. Three boys from the seventh-grade team were voted to the all-tournament team: Tywon Williams, Brent Jensen and Lamont Wallace. Williams was also named Most Valuable Player while Kurtis Decker claimed second in the free-throw contest.

"These players were very inexperienced when the season began but improved greatly as both individuals and as a team. To me that is the most gratifying part of coaching," said head coach Jon Corchin.

Members of the 2000-01 squad inlcuded Ray Arimendi, Decker, Chad Epker, Tim Hansen, Grant Harris, Jensen, Mike McBride, Kenneth Murphy, Nick Rizzio, Darrel Rolls, John Serdar, Wallace and Tywon Williams. The team's manager was Eric Poulsen.

Meanwhile, the eighth-grade boys basketball team concluded its season by finishing 2-2 in its own Kenneth Murphy Viking Tournament.

In what was somewhat of a roller-coaster season, the Vikes finished in third-place in the conference with an 8-6 record and 14-10 overall, including a win over an undefeated team and several victories over teams that defeated them earlier in the season. The Vikings also advanced to the semi-finals of the College of Lake County Tournament.

"The players never gave up and always gave 100 percent during the games. Their quickness and smart thinking on the court contributed to their success. They are a group of great kids," stated Corchin.

Team members included Adrian Als, David Hargress, Adam Jakaits, Zach Lvingston, Ryan McBride, Justin Peel, James Patterson, Cameron Shanteau, Brandon Sierra and La Fayette Winfrey. Poulsen also served as manager for the eighth-graders.

Jr. Blue Devils

Meanwhile, the seventh-grade Jr. Blue Devils captured first-place in the Grayslake Tournament. Their title run included victories over Stevenson (51-40) and the Carmel Caveliers (52-30).

Against the Patriots, Mitchell Moore led the charge with 23 points, followed by Ricky Green and Cory Gonder with eight apiece. Benny Morrison was the leading rebounder with four, while Marcus Lewis and Jamie Fischer each contributed key steals.

In the victory over Carmel, Moore scored 14, followed by Morrison with nine. Alex Swank, who provided good defense in the paint, netted six. Joe DeVries grabbed three boards while Green and Gonder each collected two steals. Kevin Wosniak also chipped in five points in playing a solid game in the paint.

On March 20, Students from the Antioch Upper Grade School helped fight heart disease and stroke by participating in Hoops For Heart. A total of 70 students participated in this year's event, which raised more than $2,000 for The American Heart Association.

Hoops For Heart is a program designed to promote physical fitness and heart health through the fun activity of playing basketball. The event is co-sponsored by the American Heart Association and the American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance.

"This year's event was a huge success," said Cher'ee Molitor, Coordinator for Hoops For Heart. "We're very pround of all of the students who participated. They all had a lot of fun."

Funds raised in Hoops For Heart help fight heart disease and stroke, the nation's No. 1 and No. 3 killers.

The event was a 3-on-3 basketball tournament, which was held after school.

Each participant raised a minimum of $15 in pledges, with Bobby Klean being the top money raiser with $204.

Carmel's Baumann 'King of the Hill' from behind the arc

By ROB BACKUS
Staff Reporter

Becoming the first state three-point shooting champion in Carmel's history wasn't easy.

In fact, it took several shoot-outs throughout the sectional and state competitions to do it.

But for Carmel's Joe Baumann, all of the extra shooting culminated with him being named 'King of the Hill' at the three-point shooting competition during the Class AA finals in Peoria.

""It was pretty exciting. I was pretty pumped up after I won," said Baumann. "I had fun the whole time."

Baumann's 11-for-15 shooting in the opening round tied him with five other competitors who had to have a shoot-out to decide the rest of the final four.

A 7-for-10 clip in the shoot-out assured him a spot and an 8-for-15 performance in the finals gave him the Class AA title. In the 'King of the Hill' competition Baumann outshot Class A champion Cody Diskin of Farmer City Blue Ridge 11-10 to capture the title.

"He just got in a rhythm and that's all you need," said head coach Joe Molloy.

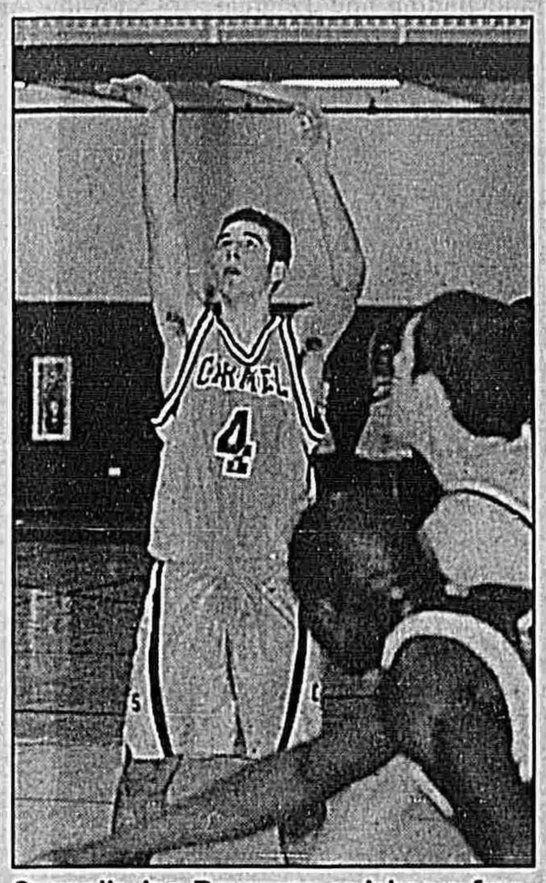
Sadly, for Baumann, the three-point competition was his last chance to officially don the Carmel uniform.

Baumann, a senior, plans to attend either Augustana College, the University of Chicago or Lake Forest College where he will take his basketball career to the next level.

"I would like to get playing time my freshman year but only time will tell," said Baumann.

However, Baumann will miss his time at Carmel and Molloy will certainly miss him.

"He's one of the best players I've ever been blessed to coach. He's exactly the type of player you want to have," said Molloy of Baumann, whose 20 points per game were good for nearly have of the team's offense. "He led the team in floor burns and his effort and hard work definitely rubbed off on the other players."



Carmel's Joe Baumann swishes a free-throw during an early-season contest. The pure shooting touch of the 6-4 senior forward payed off when he captured the title in the COUNTRY Three-point Showdown during the Boys Class AA State Basketball Tournament in Peoria March 15-16.–Photo by Tom Charters.

For Baumann, the thing he will miss most is the other players.

"They were just a fun group of guys to play will both years I was on varsity," said Baumann.

WE DO NOT KNOWINGLY ACCEPT ADS FOR ANIMALS IN OUR FREE/ GIVE AWAY COLUMN.
If you must give up your pet, please consider these facts.
*Free animal ads suggest that there is something wrong with the animal, or that it has no value.
*Some people who respond to these free animal ads are not reputable and are more concerned about making a profit than the animal.
*Charging a fee to a potential pet owner confirms the responsibility of pet ownership for an entire lifetime of that pet. For more information, please contact the Humane Society.

Recruiters Want to Help You

(Especially if you help them)

By Scott T. Fleischmann

Recruiters, like each of us, have assignments. Most recruiters are assigned to fill open job requisitions with qualified candidates. If you are a qualified candidate, the recruiter will be successful if you are hired into the job. The recruiter will be very successful if you are hired and you do a great job. However, the recruiter's greatest fear is the hiring of someone who does not do the job well.

You now understand everything that you need to know about the motivation of a recruiter. Actually, there is one more thing you should know. Most recruiters are assigned more work than they can possibly get done and they receive more resumes than they can possibly look at. In addition, the hiring managers (myself included), who utilize the recruiters to find candidates for the open jobs, are unreasonable. They want only perfect candidates, preferably two or three perfect candidates so that they can choose the best of the perfect candidates. This description may seem sarcastic but let me assure you that it isn't far from the truth.

The job of recruiting in most companies can be a lot of fun, but it is also very difficult, and at times it is frustrating. Finding a qualified candidate is often like finding a needle in a haystack. Especially when all of the candidates look the same because they are giving the recruiter the same answers that they read from the same books. And their resumes look the same because they are all created by the same local resume service. So recruiters are looking for candidates that are different. One of the great ways to differentiate yourself as a candidate is to help the recruiter get the job filled.

However, most candidates don't understand the mindset of the recruiter. Not knowing the mindset of the recruiter is a real detriment if you're trying to do everything possible to make that recruiter's job easier. Recruiters work with candidate's everyday. These candidates are all looking to get an interview, and they are all trying to influence the recruiter to pick them for the job. A candidate who shows understanding for the recruiter is as distinguished as a peacock in the midst of a flock of vultures.

But why would the recruiter want to help you get the job? Firstly, if you have helped to make the recruiter's job easier, you will probably be perceptive enough to make your future manager's job easier. Remember that hiring good candidates is the recruiter's primary motivation. Secondly, if you make the recruiter's job easier it will be less work for him or her to hire you than to hire someone else. Remember that recruiters are overworked. Finally, if you have made life easier for the recruiter, he or she will probably like you. Recruiters hire people that they like.

Differentiating yourself as a candidate by helping recruiters can be a tremendous aid in getting the best job for you. Next week we will explore exactly what you can do to help a recruiter.

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Q: I was writing to find out if you can help me find out the reason I was fired from my job with (name withheld). I had been working there for over 6 years and was terminated last week and no reason was given to me when I was let go. It was near the end of the day and I received a call from the Personnel office asking me to stop in there on my way out. I did. I walked in and was asked to sit down. I was immediately told by (name withheld) that would be my last day. I was handed my final paycheck as I was told I would then be escorted to my desk to clean out my belongings. I was totally dumfounded as I cleaned out my desk with a security guard at my side. I was then escorted to the door and left. I still don't know why I was let go. I called the Personnel Manager the next morning, but I have not received a call back. I feel that I am owed an explanation. Could you possibly help? Thank you. E. K. (via e-mail)

A: We got right on it for you. In speaking with the Manager of Personnel for your former employer, I was told that this termination had taken place within the past 72 hours, and 48 of those hours were a weekend whereby the company was closed over a weekend as usual. I was told that when the company brought you in to the personnel department and told you of your termination, you never asked for a reason. Instead I was told that your reaction was a "trade" witnessed by several employees. There was a point I am also told that your actions caused a couple of employees to feel threatened by your actions. Understanding of course that terminating employees is never an easy task from the terminated or the terminator. It was stated that you had never asked the reason why you were being terminated, but rather immediately started raising your voice among other things, I was told. The company has informed me they will be sending you a certified letter, shortly. Just a word of advice. When an employee is terminated for what ever reason, it is important to leave like a professional. The way you respond and the actions you take at that point will follow you . . . guaranteed! You never know when you will need the company for a reference on former employment. Also take into consideration that it may be that a company is terminating the position that you were in, however, there may be another opportunity within the company that you may miss out on by showing a bad side. In your case, it was told to me that you never gave the company a chance to tell you what was going on. You reacted adversely, not professionally. When the letter is received, may I make the suggestion that you think before you react. Good Luck.
